Here's Something New

A new organization has arrived on campus! It is the probationary colony of the Gamma Sigma Sigma National Service Sorority.

The major purpose of the Sorority is service to the community, our college and the nation. The women of Gamma Sigma Sigma are dedicated to the principles of friendship, equality, and service. By working with campus, community, and national organization, the "Gamma Sigs" hope to gain the benefits of working with and giving service to many various groups. Several projects, service and otherwise have been planned for the near future. Through these projects the Gamma Sigma Service Sorority hopes to be very active and make a positive contribution to our college campus.

Presently a dance has been planned which will be centered around the major holiday of this month, Valentine's Day.

The officers are: President, Carole Rutherford; First Vice President, Belinda Redmond; Second Vice President, Jeanette Walton; Recording Secretary, Sandra Coleman; Corresponding Secretary, Marvel Spells; Treasurer, Cora Jones; Historian, Gwendolyn Foxx; Reporter, Doris Covington.

The other members include: Patricia Johnson, Carolyn Hawkins, Sallie Stanback, Gloria E. Johnson, Francetta Jeffreys, Melissa Hand, Myra Cooper and Fail Stephens.

Mrs. Manderline Scales is the advisor.

BEST OF LUCK, PLEDGEES

"MISS ARGUS" January, 1970, Sister Sarah Rutherford, a junior from Nebo, North Carolina, majoring in Elementary Education.

IOTA'S GO

The brothers of the Iota Phi Theta Fraternity, Inc., were here recently about 30 strong to begin preparations for initiating their new chapter on the campus of Winston-Salem State.

They came from A & T to show, and they really showed, for the ladies of Pegram and Atkins Halls. At present there are about 15 members in their pledge club. They are expected to go over in the spring of this year.

The mother chapter of Iota is located in Baltimore, Md., on the campus of Morgan State College. We would like to take this opportunity to welcome the brothers of Iota Phi Theta and wish them continued success in the future.

ZETA PHI BETA

Bettie Watlington, vice president, and Maxine Stokes, parliamentarian of the Omega Chapter of Zeta Phi Beta Sorority have been elected to Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities. Bettie and Maxine are both junior nursing students.

In addition to being honored in Who's Who they also accompanied Jeanette McKinney, president of the sorority, to the regional meeting of Zeta Phi Beta Inc., which was held in Raleigh, N. C. The meeting proved to be a very rewarding experience for the young ladies.

Linda Donaldson, also a member of the junior class and treasurer of the sorority, has been selected Miss Zeta Phi Beta. She is also president of Moore Hall.

From the sophomore class Zeta Phi Beta has gained three new sorors. They are Dora Thompson, an English major from Canton, N. C., Joyce Graham, a Nursing major from Danville, Va., and Beatrice Atkinson, an Elementary Education major, Wilson, N. C.

"QUES" HELP TONY

There are thousands of low-income families in the Winston-Salem community. Too often, campus organizations fail to recognize or help these families.

The men of the Mu Epsilon Chapter of the Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, Inc., have taken a step, though small, to help a little boy, Tony Mundy, who comes from a low economic family.

Tony is a fifth grader at Mebane Elementary School. Tony is ten years old, four feet tall, and he weighs fifty pounds. He is a very quiet and shy young man.

The fraternity took Tony to see the WSSU Rams play the Shaw Bears in Whitaker Gymnasium. Tony had popcorn and coke as he watched the game in which the Rams won in a three overtime thriller. Tony sat and watched the game with his Ram sweat shirt and his purple and gold hat beside him. He seemed to have enjoyed himself very much. He said that the Rams were his favorite team.

Also, the fraternity has paid for Tony's lunch at school for the months of December and January. In February Tony will be leaving to go to Ohio. The chapter will again reach out to help some other boys from a low-economic family in the Winston-Salem community.

Good luck to Tony from the men of Mu Epsilon Chapter.

KAPPAS INDUCT TWO

Delta Chi Chapter of Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity, welcomes the addition of two new members to its ranks.

Lorenza Taylor, a sophomore from Plymouth, and Nathaniel Dixon, a sophomore from Bronx, New York, joined the men of Kappa Chi prior to Christmas Vacation 1969.

Taylor is an Elementary Education major, and known commonly as "Lo" to the university family. Dixon, known as "Nat", is a music major, and a member of the Winston-Salem State University Swinging Rams.

The "Dynamic Duo" began their pledge period in March of 1969, and ended the period with an exhibition of various steps and songs. To you new members, welcome!

NU GAMMA ALPHA

Look out Winston-Salem State! The Swingingest frat since Wine Phi Wine is coming your way. The Black brothers of Nu Gamma Alpha are looking for some really down young men to become charter members in our new chapter soon to be activated on the campus of W.S.S.U. So get yourself together and go Nu.

AKA'S SPONSOR CHILDREN'S PLAYDAY

The members of Gamma Lambda Chapter of Alpha Kappa Sorority sponsored a Children's Playday January 31, 1970. The group had under their supervision 21 active youngsters. The children were 3rd grade students from Mebane Elementary School, Winston-Salem, N. C.

The playday was held from 9:30-12:00 noon. The time was consumed by the playing of games, storytelling and touring of the university campus. The children were given refreshments by the sorors. Both the youngsters and the sorors enjoyed the activities of the day. The sorors have decided to sponsor this event once a month.

This is only one of the many activities that Gamma Lambda Chapter plans to sponsor during the school year. Gamma Lambda the school year. Gamma Lambda Chapter intends to be a chapter on the move.

Congratulations Greeks

Once again the Brothers of Omega welcome a newly tried brother into "Omegadom." This Brother, Louis Jones, alias "Zeus, the Soul Survivor" is a sophomore majoring in music. Brother Jones is a native of Rocky Mount, North Carolina.

Omeegas Sponsor Talent '70 Show

Diane Bellamy, senior at Reynolds High School won the classical section of the Omega Talent Hunt at Winston-Salem State University. She sang "The Bird and the Rose."

The Talent Hunt Contest was sponsored by Mu Epsilon (Undergraduate) and Psi Phi (Graduate) Chapters of the Omega Psi Phi Fraternity.

The contest was divided into a popular section and a classical section. Groups and individuals competed in the popular section which was held on Saturday night in Fries Auditorium. Completion in the classical section was confined to individuals.

Miss Lois P. Hauser, a pianist, also of Reynolds High School, placed second in the classical section. She played "Hungarian Rhapsody, No. 2" by Liszt. The third place went to Sharmon Cofer of Children's Home on "Give God The Father Praise," a vocal solo.

Miss Bellamy will represent the chapters in a District Contest to be held at Myrtle Beach, S. C. in March.

Miss Carlotta Samuels of Anderson High School won first place in the popular division. Second place in the popular division went to Pamela Gore of Wiley Junior High School and Walteria Mack of Anderson won third place.

Leading the groups in the popular contest was the Orlettes. Second place went to the Soulettes and third place went to the Soulerettes.

The Dance group from Anderson High School performed twice during the popular contest. Mrs. Gwendolyn Goodwin, a former winner of the Talent Hunt and Miss Sharon Boone, a ninth grader at Wiley Junior High, were guest performers at intermission during the classical division.

Rudolph Boone was master of ceremonies for the classical division and Colvin Crisp MC'd the popular division.

Judges for the popular division were Emory Jones and John Thomas, music students at Winston-Salem State University. Dr. James Dillard, head of the University's music department, served as judged for the classical section.

Dr. C. B. Hauser, basileus of Psi Phi Chapter, awarded the prizes and gave certificates to all who participated in the contest.

Friends of Distinction To Appear In Fries Auditorium

"Can you dig it, can you dig it baby?" Last spring these were the words that swept the country, as well as the campus of Winston-Salem State University, as the Friends of Distinction and everybody started "Grazin' In The Grass." The Hugh Masakela hit was the first big single for the Friends on the RCA label. Since then their career has skyrocketed. They recently earned a gold record for selling over a million copies of their recent hit single "You Got Me Going In Circles."

The group hails from Los Angeles, California, where they were discovered by actor and former football great Jim Brown. Brown liked them so well that he immediately signed on to be their manager and brought the group to the attention of the RCA executives. The Friends of Distinction are Harry Elston, Floyd Butler, Jessica Cleaves, and Barbara Jean Love.

On Sunday night, February 22, 1970, the Student Government Association of Winston-Salem State University will proudly present the Friends of Distinction in Concert at Fries Auditorium. Tickets will go on sale Feb. 9th in the office of the SGA.
