

Faculty Takes On Twenty-One

Twenty-one appointments have been made to the faculty of Winston-Salem State University according to Dr. Kenneth R. Williams, university chancellor.

The new appointments are: Dr. Jerome B. Albert, assistant professor of psychology, Miss Cassandra L. Bradshaw, instructor in music, George Clement, instructor in health and physical education; Mrs. Eleanor M. Crahan, instructor in nursing; Mrs. Frances L. Crosby, instructor in nursing; Dr. William Dodge, assistant professor of biology; Miss Adeline Gracey, assistant professor of nursing; Mrs. Inez Hairston, instructor in nursing; Miss Kathleen Handy, instructor in sociology; Winthrop Headley, instructor in physical education; Mrs. Carol P. Henry, instructor in nursing;

Phillip W. Leon, assistant professor of English; Dr. Alan Lipkin, assistant professor of political science; Andrew I. Terrell, Jr., instructor in biology; Dr. Ukaonu W. Uche, assistant professor of sociology; Narasingarao Vegi, instructor in business education; Austin D. Washington, assistant professor of history, and Mrs. Marian E. Williams, assistant professor of nursing.

Dr. Albert earned his Ph.D. and master of arts degrees from the University of Illinois and the bachelor of arts degree from City College of New York;

Miss Bradshaw holds the master of arts degree from East Carolina University and the bachelor of music degree from Virginia State College;

Clement holds a bachelor of arts degree from St. Augustine's College;

Mrs. Crahan holds a master of nursing degree from Case Western Reserve University and the bachelor of arts degree from Maryville College;

Mrs. Crosby holds the bachelor of science degree in nursing from Winston-Salem State University;

Dr. Dodge earned his Ph.D. and master of science degree from the University of Mississippi School of Medicine and a bachelor of science degree from Millsaps College;

Miss Gracey received her master of public health degree from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and a bachelor of science degree from A&T State University;

Mrs. Hairston has a bachelor of science degree from North Carolina Central University;

Miss Handy received her master of arts degree from Atlanta University and a bachelor of arts degree from Louisiana State University;

Headley holds the master of arts and bachelor of science degrees from Wake Forest University;

Mrs. Henry earned her bachelor of science degree from Winston-Salem State University;

Leon received his master of arts and bachelor of arts degrees from Wake Forest University and also a bachelor of science in education from Peabody College;

(Continued on Page Two)

The News Argus

VOL. XI, NO. 3

WINSTON-SALEM STATE UNIVERSITY, WINSTON-SALEM, NORTH CAROLINA

OCTOBER, 1973

SGA ASSUMES DUTIES

The newly elected Student Government Association took office July 1, 1973. Leading this group of dynamic students is a young man from Philadelphia named Charles Zollicoffer. Zollicoffer is a junior, sociology major, and is also an active member of the Black Panther Party in Winston-Salem. The other officers are: Ray Knox, director of student affairs, a senior from Winterville, N. C.; Junius T. Hanley, Jr. a director of judicial affairs, a senior from Philadelphia, Pa.; Carl J. Gist director of financial affairs, a senior from Rock Hill, S. C.; Larry Wilson, director of social affairs, a junior from Fayetteville, N. C.; Vivian McMillan director of secretarial affairs, a senior from Shannon; Travis Ragins a board of trustees representative, a senior from Winston-Salem, N. C.; Wanda J. Smith board of trustees representative, a senior from Goldsboro, N. C.; and Ava V. Thomas, editor of THE NEWS ARGUS, a senior from Navassa.

The SGA said it is ready and willing to act in your behalf but you (the student body) must give them your full support.

According to Zollicoffer there are many issues he plans to act upon, many of which were on his campaign platform. The main problems now are the food in the dining hall and also health care facilities.

He said, you can help him by giving all support and cooperation to make things around this institution better for all students.

Freshmen Voice Their Opinion of State

Recently Winston-Salem State University has been overrun by more than 387 freshmen. Many had visited the campus previously, however, an equal number were seeing the campus for the first time. Was it what they had expected? Were they disappointed or were they thrilled? Well, they were asked and this is how some of them felt.

Pam Liles, a freshman secretarial administration major from Durham, N. C., found everything "okay" with the exception of the women's dormitories which she described as "bad". Pam said, "classes are nice along with the professors. My biggest complaint is the slick guys on campus."

A freshman from Newton, N. C., Phyllis Battle, was "homesick at first" but soon adjusted to college life. Miss Battle had never visited the campus before and was dissatisfied with the "shabby dorms and unfriendly people."

Linda Bogle, a native of Charlotte, N. C., said, "my first impression of State was bad, but it improved with time." She really likes the Hauser Student Union, describing it as "one of the best I've seen anywhere." However, Linda does not like the general "unorganized nature of administrative procedures."

"WSSU is more like a high school than a college," said James Brown, a freshman from Cleveland, Ohio. James can not see why State does not have "coed visitation like most other institutions." He will not be able to choose his desired major, psychology, because of the "limited curriculum offered."

Biology major, Halima Rahiman, from New York came here expecting the campus to be larger than it is, she says because of its university status. She complained of "sorry dorms and unfriendly matrons." In general, however, she was pleased with State and is enjoying her stay.

Many of the complaints received are normal for freshmen and many are not. No doubt many of their complaints will be forgotten by many students, even freshmen themselves, but The News Argus won't. This year, freshmen, we will not forget you.

The News Argus welcomes you and wishes you a successful year.

—John W. Lee

Old Laundry Building Destroyed

According to Mr. Alexander E. Barber, laundry supervisor, the laundry was erected around 1924. This was almost 50 years ago but of this nearly 50 years Mr. Barber says he contributed 43 years of service in the building.

When asked how he felt about the demolition of the old cleaners, he answered, "The building was old and badly in need of extensive repairs. Also a portion of the structure was in the street. The machinery was obsolete and there was inefficient help. After working under such conditions for such a long time and my thought of retirement in the near future, I am afraid that I welcomed it although I'll miss it."

—Luberta Parker

Visiting Scholar Speaks

Tuesday, October 9, 1973, at 10:00 a.m. Campbell M. Wade, Jr., Piedmont University Center Visiting Scholar, will appear in Hill Hall Lecture Room, Winston-Salem State University. The lecture topic will be "Time, Energy and Distance

DOCTORAL DEGREES AWARDED

This year Winston-Salem State University is proud to have three of its instructors receive their doctoral degrees. They are: Dr. Faustina Holman, Dr. William Rice and Dr. Constance Johnson.

Dr. Holman is a native of Winston-Salem and is associate professor of music education. She did her undergraduate work here at State. Dr. Holman received her doctorate from Temple University, College of Music, concentrating in music education. She says that "students generally show too much apathy when it comes to academic affairs, but most have great personalities."

Dr. Rice who is chairman of the social science department is a native of Winston-Salem and has been an instructor here at State for the last sixteen years. He completed undergraduate work at N. C. A&T State University. Dr. Rice received his doctorate from Southern Illinois at Carbondale, Illinois, concentrating in urban geography and geographic education.

Dr. Constance Johnson is also a native of Winston-Salem and a professor of psychology and education. She completed undergraduate work at the N. C. A&T State University and received her doctorate from Southern Illinois at Carbondale, Illinois. Dr. Johnson says she believes that "people should accept students as people. They (the students) want to be actively involved in what's going on." She also says that the students seem to be more mature in their thinking.

—The Riddle of the Quasar."

Mr. Wade is associated with the National Radio Astronomy Observatory, Charlottesville, Virginia. Previously he was engaged in science research in the Division of Radiophysics, S.S.I.R.O. in Sydney, Australia. He is a member of the American Astronomical Society and the International Astronomical Union and has published extensively in leading scientific journals in the United States and Europe.

DON'T FORGET HOMECOMING

OCTOBER 27