Alpha Kappa Alpha: the sorors of Gamma Lambda Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority are currently planning for their annual "Little Miss AKA" Pageant to be held on April 13 in Whitaker's Gymnasium. Tickets for the event are $2.00 for patrons, $1.00 general admission and $.50 for students. Proceeds from the pageant will go to further the various projects of the scholarships and service projects for the community. Their annual spring rush party, which was "A pink and Green Mixing Bowl" this year, was held in Kennedy Dining Hall on February 25. Look for more news and announcements concerning the pageant and begin to make plans to attend!

Kappa Alpha Psi: The brothers of Delta Chi on WSSU's campus are continuing their fine work with the community. Presently, they conduct a basketball clinic for the underprivileged boys in the neighborhood. The clinic is held every Thursday from 2 to 4 p.m. Plans for their annual talent show to be held in April have not been finalized. However, all persons interested in participating are asked to contact Cecil McPhaul or any member of Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity.

Phi Beta Sigma: As usual, in the land of Sigmadom, things are "coming from all ends." We have on our spring line two Crescents. They are Crescent Number one Bernard Talbot and Crescent Number two, Butch Jackson. On March second, we held a Sigma and Zeta workshop. We had visiting brothers and sisters from various other schools. It was truly a beautiful affair which will be held annually. On the party scene, all we have to say is keep your ear to the air and your eyes clear, because something will be jumping off very soon.

Cecil Sharrock,
President

Zeta Phi Beta: the sorors of Zeta just had a workshop of all of the black colleges in the area which was very well attended and also representative. They just completed a celebration of "Finer Womanhood Week" which was the last week in February. It was held in honor of the founding of the sorority. The Zetas also had a spring rush party during the latter portion of February. It was held on the 26th. There are two AC's on line. They are Roberta Carr and Margaret Brown.

Student Poetry

To You:

The Essence of Beauty

Light is the pathway from darkness,
When I look into your eyes I see "light":
Warmth is nature's way of giving security,
When I see your smile I feel "warm":
Beauty is the untouched photo of truth,
When I look at you I see "beauty":
Truth is beauty, beauty is truth.
When I see you, I see beauty.
And truly you are "beautiful".

TOUCH

"Freedom Someday"

Upon this day as I gaze into the skies
All the beautiful things intrude my eyes
Beautiful things that I should always enjoy seem so close but yet they are far so far that I can't respond to the effects
Realizing now that these things are of certain selects Asking myself why don't they touch me
Or is it the isolation of never feeling free never feeling free to wonder into the unknown Always being detected with something wrong

As I watch all the people having fun
Expressing their feeling under the radiant sun makes me oh so contempt
As I realize my absence of expression.

looking around at all the glow
circulates my body in a fearful flow
To site upon nature on so dear makes me realize that I'm the one I fear.
My mind so tangled with confusion makes everything around me an abrupt disillusion

To be able to realize that the faults in me insures my possibility that one day I'll be free
Free to feel the presence of others
Enabling myself to blend in with the sources
To be able to say that everything's glorious to me
Oh with a praying voice I ask, when will this day be.

Writing Clinic Assists

There are numerous facilities on campus to assist the student who needs academic help. The Library, Math Tutors, and the Enrichment Center facilities are just a few. This year, a new but not widely publicized "help" program is in effect again - The Writing Clinic, sponsored by the Department of English and Foreign Languages.

The purpose of the Writing Clinic is to give any student additional help in written expression. If you have problems in grammar and usage, such as subject-verb agreement, verb tenses, etc., or problems in developing and clarifying themes and paragraphs, or point of view, the Writing Clinic is for you. These are just a few of the more than twenty-seven specific grammar errors with which the helpers can assist you.

The Writing Clinic will serve any student beyond the freshman classification who has some deficiency in English. Although the student must have a referral before he can be obtained from all professors on campus whether his subject area is English or not.

In addition, the Counseling Center, also refers students when the student feels he needs help. After the referral, the responsibility of obtaining help falls on the student. The decision of when and even whether the student attends is his own decision.

Staffed by English Professors, members of Sigma Tau Delta English Honor Society and students advanced in English, the writing clinic is held in Carolina Hall Room 213. The clinic is open from 9 a.m. - 3 p.m., Monday thru Friday, except during the lunch hour, with at least one tutor present at all times. Classwork and homework will not be done for the student and no grade is given for attending the clinic or for the work done in the clinic.
