Cafeteria To Change

The renovation of Kennedy Dining Hall, originally scheduled for January of 1980, has been rescheduled for May. The reason for this, according to Mr. Warren Couch, director of Food Services at Winston-Salem State, is the inadequacy of the gym as a dining facility-which is where dining will take place when the project is started.

Moving food preparation into the gym at that time (Jan.), would be too much work and an inconvenience during the winter months. Mr. Couch said that beginning the project in May, with hopes of completing it in October, would eliminate some of the dining in the gym. Because of the warmer weather, most meals will be served outside.

The remodeled dining hall holds many promises. The facility will provide adequate food space, better equipped, air conditioning, and a better atmosphere in which to dine. The renovated dining hall will also provide four lines that will eliminate the waiting for meals.

Campus Center Helps Skills

By James Sanders Jr.
News Argus Reporter

Many minds conjure up pictures of amazingly dull bookworms, dusty and drab surroundings, and endless lectures on the values of the letters A and B, when they think of the Enrichment Center.

These minds are terribly disillusioned.

From the moment that one meets the director of the Enrichment Center, Mrs. Maurice Johnson, one feels a sense of vitality and purpose emitting from her.

The Center located in Room 204, Hall-Patterson Communication Building, can be considered as a place where stagnant education comes back to life. It is the type of place where the serious student can develop more complicated techniques and where the borderline student can become serious. The Center is flexible enough to handle such things as a lecture given by a teacher in a 200-seat auditorium; and a student's special report held in a 50-seat lecture room. But it can still take care of the needs of the individual student.

The Center is equipped with a collection of cassetts, reel-to-reels, and video tapes. It also has filmstrips, projectors, typewriters, calculators, and sound pages.

A recent addition to the Center is the new graphics lab, located in room 313. A student can use the materials made in the lab for oral presentations, as well as for other projects. The lab is complete with T-squares, rulers, pencils, duplicator, paper-cutter, stencils, construction paper, and other graphic equipment.

The student is only charged for consumable items such as paper, and stencils. However, there is a special plan for paying for these items. A card good for $1.60 in services is purchased. With this card, the student only pays $1.25, saving 45 cents.

The hours for the Center are 8:00 a.m.-5:00 p.m. Monday-Friday. The hours for the Graphics Lab are 9:00 a.m. - 12:00 and 1:00 p.m.-4:00 p.m. during the week.
