

Student Mourned By University Family

by Constance Lowery

A 23 year old Winston-Salem State University student was killed the week before Thanksgiving, while driving home from school. His car nearly collided with another car and he died later when he was hit by a transfer truck.

David Halliburton was among the top musicians at Winston-Salem State University, according to a spokesman from the music department at WSSU. Perhaps the most amazing quality of this student was his ability to play the 'saxophone.' He was a very good performer and had played in concerts in the (back up) orchestra for graduation and other activities held at Winston-Salem State University. He was also noted for his playing in the marching band.

One of David's most lasting impressions on the WSSU students was his easy way with people. His quiet spirit (introverted type) made him easy to talk to and very well liked. One student says, "He never seemed to display any problems." Being active in both the 'Interdenominational Youth for Christ' movement and the 'Northern Connection Organization,' David was a Christian.

David was the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Halliburton of Brooklyn, N.Y. and a member of the 'Open Door Church' (born again christian), in that city.

Regardless of the way he died, he seemed to have shown remarkable ability with people and music. Such noted ability will never be forgotten.

But, these few sentences can give no real picture of the 5'11" clean shaven young man. They are merely incidental facts which happen to have been observed.

Deeply devoted to the activities he participated in, David Halliburton will be missed greatly by Winston-Salem State University family.

Congressional Bill Would Swap Students Free Tuition For Two Years Of Teaching

WASHINGTON, D.C. (CPS)—To help attract qualified students to the teaching profession, U.S. Representative Ron Wyden (D-Ore.) is lobbying for an educational scholarship fund that would pay students' tuition in return for two years of teaching in public schools after they graduate.

"The concern we're addressing in the bill is that the best and brightest are not looking at the education and teaching fields," says a Wyden aide.

While the bill is still in "the planning stages," the aide says, the idea does have the support of the National Education Association and the American Federation of Teachers.

Both groups are conferring with Wyden's office to nail down details for the proposal, which the congressman plans to introduce when the House re-convenes in January.

"The final legislation might well be different," the aide says, "but it will essentially be a federally-funded, state-administered program that would provide scholarships for students who agree to teach for a certain number of years upon graduation."

Wyden's plan calls for as many as 10,000 such scholarships a year, and is expected to receive general support from the Reagan administration as well as other teachers' associations and education groups.

"The idea of the legislation is to address the quality of the person entering the teaching profession today," Wyden's aide adds. "And the idea of offering scholarships is a time-proven way to attract qualified people into certain fields."

Wyden's proposal arose from his work on the House Education and Labor Committee's National Merit Pay Task Force, whose recommendations President Reagan has also endorsed.

Christmas Classifieds

To the Lovely Ladies of Moore Hall,
Merry Christmas.

Merry Christmas Ground Floor Moore
and stop the madness.

PJT

To Darryl Page,

Merry Christmas!!!
Love ya,
Cynthia Kemp

Aris,

Merry Christmas. We'll talk about it later.

Sharon & Marie

Rhonda,

May your Holiday be full of Happiness.
"CENT"

Merry Christmas, Happy Kwanza, and a joyous and prosperous New Year to the entire WSSU community.

Clifton, Sylvia & Thelma Graves

David Alston,

Happy Holidays and Kisses.
Your only Love,
"CENT"

Playmate,

Don't Trip! Merry Christmas!
Alias
"Bailey"

Mr. Stokes,

I hope that you have a very joyous and happy Christmas.

Thinking of you,
A Summer Fling!

Eugene,

I love you very much.

Merry Christmas,
Love,
Carolyn

Merry Christmas Denise, Love Ya!!

Sara

Come on Ms. Jones let's bodyslam!!

Santa Claus

Dear David,

I don't want an E-wok for Christmas!!!
Love,
Jennifer

Tacheam,

Merry Christmas to a wonderful son.
Love,
Moma

Merry Christmas and Happy New Year
to all the people from the Gold City.

Terrie Artis

Merry Christmas 1984 Graduates.

Love, Sharon Edmond

Kyle,

Wishing you a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Rommate, Karen

Merry Christmas to the one I love. A very positive and wise young man whom I love with all my LOVE. I Love You Much!

Misty

Merry Christmas Mr. Thomas.

Love Ya,
Sharon and Freddie

I would like to extend my love and blessings to the Ram Family for the Holidays.

Love Always,
Miss WSSU

To my heart, Ricky,

Wishing you the best of everything through the holidays and always.

Love Always,
Karen

To: 1979 Class,

Merry Christmas and Happy New Year
to the last of the old school.

Farrell Malloy

To: Sunshine, Shorty,

Have a very Merry Christmas.

From: Southeast Sag

Merry Christmas to the Hittin and Holden Honeys.

From the D.C. Crew

To Greg Hopkins,

The best Christmas present you could receive would be to spend Christmas with me.

Merry Christmas,
Katrina

In appreciation, love and concern for all—Best wishes for a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year.

Manderline Scales
Dis. of Student Activities

"Wishing the university family pleasant and carefree holidays - with special greetings to the Student Union Program
Board and the University Ushers.

Sincerely,
Elaine P. Browne

All S.U.P.B. members, thanks for your support and hard work 1st semester. Have a Merry Xmas and a Happy New Year.

Wayne Richardson