Dana Caulder Miss WSSU 1984-85

by Tujuana Evans

What do Army fatigues, a jewel crown, and accounting have in common for a WSSU senior?

These three things are special to Miss WSSU, 1984-85 Dana Caulder.

A native of Lumberton, N.C., Caulder is a graduate of Reidross Senior High School in Fayetteville, N.C. She is the daughter of Carl Caulder.

She is a senior majoring in Business Administration with a concentration in accounting. She is also a member of Delta Sigma Pi Business Fraternity and is WSSU's first queen scheduled to be commissioned in the United States Army as 2nd Lieutenant on Reserve Forces Duty at the May 1985 Commencement ceremony.

When asked why did she choose to run for the office, Caulder stated that she ran for Miss WSSU because she felt that she "was qualified to represent the university." She also felt that she had worked closely with the previous Miss WSSU and that she knew what the job entailed and was certain she could get the job done.

The job of being Miss WSSU is not as glamorous as it seems. It is not only a title, but an office too. Miss WSSU works just as hard and under just as much pressure as the other SGA officers. The job consists of planning the coronation, meeting with other college campus queens, and running various meetings and other jobs that contribute to a successful Homecoming.

Miss Caulder's advice to any young lady who would like to seek the office of Miss WSSU is "to present herself in a lady like manner at all times, keep a positive attitude and always be yourself."

"I would like to thank the Ram Family for all the support they have given me, and for giving me the chance to reign as Miss Winston-Salem State University," said Caulder.

Gary Morris Mr. Ram 1984

by Mark Sadler

"All The Right Moves" was the theme of this year's Mr. Ram Pageant.

This year, William Bess, David Berry, Amos Wilson, Clarke Poston all of Winston-Salem, N.C. and Gary Morris of Windsor, N.C. participated in the event.

Karl Menefee and Sherry Leonard were the host for the show. Judges for this event, were Gail Brandon, Marian Brower, Carole J. Bryson, Pat Reid, Charles Burns, Bernard Foy, and Sidney Hibbert.

To become Mr. Ram; the contestants participated in a series of evaluations. First there was a Fashion Dimensions, where the contestants modeled clothes that could express himself. This segment was followed by a Talent Dimension where the contestant expressed his talent.

In the final segment each contestant was asked a question where he had to answer it logically.

Finally, three winners are chosen. The 1984-85 Ram Pageant's winners were second runner-up, Clarke Poston; first runner-up, William Bess and Mr. Ram 1984-85 is Gary Morris of Windsor, N.C.

Morris stated "as Mr. Ram, I would like to help in anyway possible with the Student Government Association and to represent my school to the best of my ability.

Morris said he decided to run because he felt, "it takes a special person to be Mr. Ram. He feels that he possesses that leadership ability."

When asked how he felt about winning the contest he said, "It's a dream come true, I feel great."

Ms. Elaine P. Browne, co-ordinator of this event feels that "the pageant is the most exciting student production of the year, using student's talent. It's a learning experience as well. It's a challenging experience for the men who participate," she said.

"It's also a composite of qualities to instill poise, dignity and self-respect in the participant, I enjoy working with each contestant, to me all of them are winners, I enjoy it each year," she continued.
