

Winston Salem State University ROTC On The Move

By Robert Lassiter

During the weekend of November 9-11, there will be no green uniforms or ROTC cadets anywhere on campus.

Where will they be? They will be on their annual Fall Field Training Exercise (FTX).

According to Cadet Company Commander Brenda Brown, "This will be one of the most exciting Field Training Exercises ever held. This year's FTX is scheduled so that it will physically and mentally train the MS III's how to work and make decisions in a tactical environment."

Brown, who is a ROTC scholarship student, explains that "ROTC prepares college men and women for service as an officer on active duty or with the Reserve or National Guard. ROTC classes are unique in the college curriculum in that they not only offer instruction but a practical working knowledge of leadership." "What a college student learns in Army ROTC training is directly applicable to a civilian career as well: the principles of personnel management, a ready acceptance of responsibility, personal confidence, and a desire to achieve," she further explained.

The ROTC program is divided into two phases: The Basic course and The Advanced course. The Basic course is non-obligatory. When the student enters the Advanced course or accepts a scholarship, he or she contracts with the Army and agrees to serve as an officer in the Army on either active duty or in the Reserves or National Guard.

Shayla Dell Newell Crowned "Little Miss Jabberwock"

Tiny Shayla Dell Newell, 2, was crowned Little Miss Jabberwock during the Jabberwock Pageant held on October 28th in the K. R. Williams Auditorium at WSSU.

The pageant was sponsored by the Gamma Phi Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc. Jabberwock means to "walk and talk." Various activities during this type of sorority presentation can include: variety shows or programs that offer local groups and individuals the opportunity to compete in the fields of drama, dance and music.

Five cute little girls participated in this year's contest. They ranged in age from 2-8 years old.

Each little contestant received a percentage of the money she raised to be put in a trust fund for future educational expenses. They also received roses, a trophy and a tee shirt.

The other contestants included: 4th runner-up Miako Lindsey, 6, who raised $265.00; 3rd runner-up, Chandra Nicole Squire, 7, who raised $450.61, 2nd runner-up, Warrenetta Ayanna Clements, 6, who raised $531.50; and 1st runner-up Tara Latrell Travis, 8, who raised $1,029.55. Little Miss Jabberwock raised $1,082.55.

Greta Miller is president of Gamma Phi and Dr. Manderline Scales is the chapter's advisor.

FAMOUS LAST WORDS FROM FRIENDS TO FRIENDS.

"Are you OK to drive?"

"What's a few beers?"

"Did you have too much to drink?"

"I'm perfectly fine."

"Are you in any shape to drive?"

"I've never felt better."

"I think you've had a few too many."

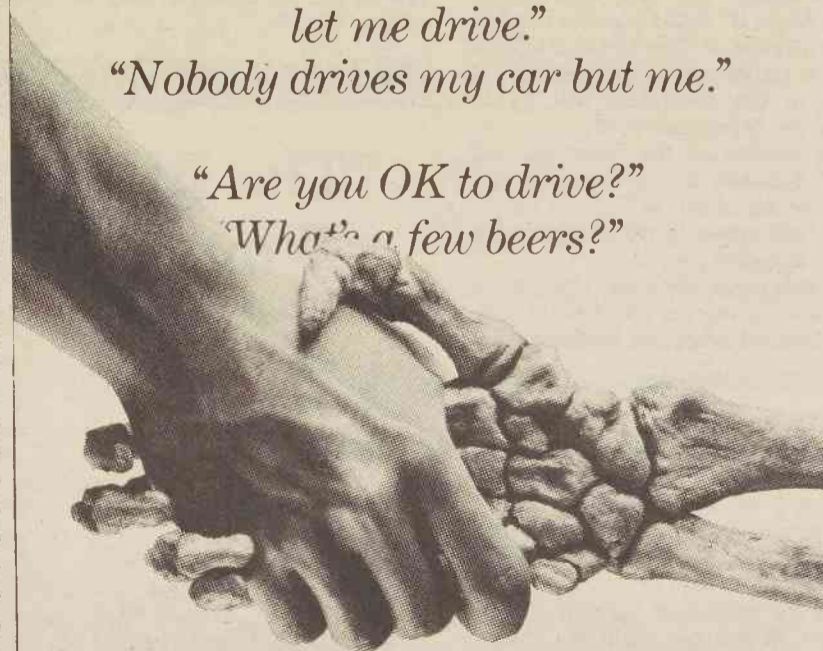

"You kiddin, I can drive with my eyes closed."

"You've had too much to drink, let me drive."

"Nobody drives my car but me."

"Are you OK to drive?"

"What's a few beers?"
