

Craig Johnson Receives Business Industry Award

by Alisa Wilson

"Have a strong mind, strong commitments, and high goals and you can do anything."

This is the attitude of a WSSU senior who has been the recipient of several honors this year.

Craig Johnson, who is better known as "Tibbs," has apparently made his own advice a stepping stone.

He recently received the prestigious Business/Industry Cluster Award. He received it because of his active participation in the community and many services rendered to the university.

Johnson, who also received class honors at the recent Honors Day Program said "I feel honored and privileged to be elected because it gives me a standard to maintain."

Two sources which he feels have motivated him are his parents and Jesus Christ. These motivations along with a few others are what have shaped "Tibbs" into a high achiever.

Johnson also said that he has always been outspoken and his point of view has always been respected by his peers.

Among the honor just mentioned, Craig has also received a departmental scholarship; he has been on the Dean's List since his freshman year; has been selected as an outstanding member of his class for two years and was selected as Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

After receiving his degree in English, he plans to attend law school at St. Johns in New York.

This is definitely someone we will need to keep our eye on in the future.

CIA Bound

by Darrell Womble

When you hear the term CIA what comes to your mind? Mystery, intrigue, espionage?

Well, a member of the Mighty Ram Family will be working for the CIA.

Tony Herring, a junior and a football player, from Faison, N.C. got this job through the Co-op program here at WSSU.

He is currently expecting a call from the CIA to find out when he starts and exactly what he will be doing.

He is pretty sure it will deal with computers since he is a Computer Science major.

Herring is anxious to start work before hitting the football field where he plays Defensive tackle.

With that attitude Herring should be successful in his summer job.
