

WSSU Royalty 1985-86

Miss WSSU 1985-86

Wanda Darby, Miss Senior, Business Major from Gastonia, N.C.

Rita Ramona Archer Crowned Miss WSSU 1985-86

by Victor Coffey
Managing Editor

Why would a young lady choose to run for Miss WSSU?

"I feel that being Miss Winston-Salem State University will give me an opportunity to use the qualities that this school has helped me develop," explained this year's queen.

Rita Ramona Archer, a 21-year old English Education major and Mass Communications minor from Scotland Neck, N.C. is Miss WSSU 1985-1986. She is the daughter of Shirley Zickuhr of Ridgewood, N.Y.

Currently she is the Co-Editor of the 1986 (RAM) Yearbook and promotion director for WSNC-FM. In the past she has been president of Dillard Hall, a reporter for the News Argus, a member of the Mozik Modeling Troupe and a Resident Assistant in Atkins Hall, 1983-1984. Last year, she held the title of Ms. Beta Iota of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity.

Her hobbies and interests include reading, writing, listening to music and meeting people.

After graduating from WSSU she would like to attend Ohio State University, "I want to obtain a Masters in English (MA), I also hope to attend Law School," stated Miss Archer.

When asked, what is one thing that you would like to see happen to WSSU during your reign? Miss Archer said, "First, I would like to see more student involvement with concerns for their school and themselves. Second, I would like to see better faculty, staff and student interaction. Third, I would like to see the students come together and demand what they want, because we make WSSU."

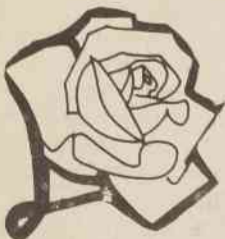

Robyn Jackson, Miss Sophomore, Accounting Major from Wheaton, Md.

Not Pictured:
Rita Miles, Miss Freshman, from Fayetteville, N.C.

Denise Norwood, Miss Junior, Accounting Major from East Orange, N.J.

Queen's Photos by Bailey

Mr. Ram and Miss WSSU: Roderick McIver and Rita Archer

Photo by Peele