Just Another Face In The Crowd

By Chris Colley

Sergio Tatoba is just another face in the crowd, however with an interesting story. Sergio is originally from Brazil, Rio de Janeiro and has been in Winston-Salem for one year. Sergio likes Winston-Salem but also finds it a little different. According to Sergio, the biggest difference lies in the unity of the family. In Brazil there is much respect for the family, including grandmother and grandfather. However, in the United States there seems to be a lack of respect for the elders. (There is much distance between the family unit. It is not surprising the thing he misses most is his family.

Sergio is attending WSSU to make up for some of the other credit hours that did not transfer. He has his college degree in Physical Education. Sergio is a man who enjoys learning. he speaks 4 different languages. English, Portugese, Spanish, French. When he is not studying he is usually at the gym working out. From age 10, Sergio has been involved in gymnastics. He loves working out on the high bar. Sergio has competed worldwide with the national team of Brazil, and has done very well.

Sergio later became a gymnastics coach. He has worked with many athletes, his most recent is Leuiza Ribeiro. This young gymnast has benefited greatly from the knowledge Sergio has offered. Ribeiro was in the Pan American games last year and received a bronze. You can look for him in the Olympic games one year from now. There is something to be said for a good coach!

Sergio has many future goals that obviously include his gymnastics equipment for training much better than other places he has coached. Sergio has a terrific personality and a great sense of humor, he is most sure to go far. We wish you the best of luck!!

That's Entertainment for October and November!

By: Chris Colley

Homecoming is here, and so is the entertainment. This year the Alumni Association will sponsor Natalie Cole on Friday night in K.R. Williams. Anita Baker will be performing in the Kenneth R. Williams Auditorium, Saturday October 31 at 8 pm. (Tickets are sold out.) There will be a comedian to open her show.

The big kick off of all the festivities will be the pre-dawn dance held in the old gym, Friday October 30 from 12 am to 6 am. (Tickets are $1.00). Rumor has it that a group of "Rappers" will be appearing.

November also looks great for entertainment in Winston Salem.

The National Shakespeare Festival will present, "The Tempest", Friday November 13 at 7 pm in the Kenneth R. Williams auditorium. Tickets go on sale November 2 through the 13. Tickets can be picked up in the student box office between the hours of 10 am through 2 pm (weekdays only). Students can pick up their tickets free, with a student ID. Additional tickets can be purchased in advance for $5.00 or at the door for $7.00.

For those of you who have transportation, North Carolina School of the Arts will be presenting quite a variety of music, theatre and dance programs. First the American Music Festival will be presented by students. Wednesday November 4 at noon in Crawford Hall, located on the School of the Arts campus. Admission is free and all are invited. The American Music Festival, (composed by the North Carolina School of the Arts Composers) will be presented Thursday, November 5th, and Friday, November 6th at 8 p.m. in Crawford Hall.

November 5-8, sparks something a little different. Eva LeGallienne and Florida Friebus will be presenting their adaptation of, "Alice in Wonderland." Tickets are $9 for adults and $5 for students and senior citizens. Times for the production are 8 p.m. nightly, with two matinee shows November 7 and 8 at 2 pm.

Finally for those of you who enjoy the sounds of percussion. The Percussion Ensemble Concert will be held Monday, November 9th at 8 p.m. in the Stevens Center. Admission is free. And if jazz is more your style, the Jazz Ensemble Concert will be held Saturday, November 14th at 8 p.m. in the Stevens Center. Tickets are $5 for adults and $3 for students and senior citizens.
