ing and discussing at least three major problem areas.); two, an impromptu speech. (Maximum two-minute speech on a topic assigned "on the spot; three, an Oral examination on general knowledge of the United Nations and the United Nations System; and four, an oral examination on general knowledge of procedure (e.g., parliamentary procedure).

All colleges and universities invited to participate in the Model United Nations are asked to send a "school delegation" of at least ten students. This will provide enough students for the school to have three "country delegations" of three students each, and one student to serve on the Secretariat. Each college or university is also asked to send at least one faculty adviser.

The Model United Nations will simulate three committees of the General Assembly. The Committees and issues assigned for each Committee's work are: 1) Political Security Committee, Middle East: Palestinian Rights, Namibian Independence, and Central America; 2) Economic and Financial Committee, Funding of the United Nations and Third World Debt; 3) Social Humanitarian and Cultural Committee, State of the World's Children and Global Environmental Problems. The NCCIE expects over 120 students and 20 faculty from eleven colleges and universities in North Carolina to participate in this Model United Nations. The Consortium will present 15 awards, five distinguished delegation awards, and ten distinguished individual awards. The awards will be determined by a student-faculty committee.

As Adult Learning Specialists (ALS), Harmon and Andrews-Hitchcock, travel to different universities to assist the administration and faculty in utilizing the programs and services provided and make certain that they are being used to the fullest extent. They receive calls from universities inquiring about their programs. They then point out the various services and programs they have to offer and go from there.

The Education Services Division is under the director of Dr. Paul Vandergrift and Dr. Ron Plummer serves as the Adult Learning Coordinator. Their offices are based in the Research Triangle Park in Raleigh, N.C.

Announcing an offer
designed to save money
for people who are,
well, a bit long-winded
when it comes to,
you know, talking on
the phone, and who,
quite understandably,
don't want to have to wait till after 11 pm to get a deal on long distance prices.

If you spend a lot of time on the phone, the AT&T Reach Out® America Plan could save you a lot on your long distance bill. And you don't have to stay up late to do it. Starting at 5 pm, the AT&T Reach Out® America Plan takes an additional 25% off our already reduced evening prices.

To find out more, call us at 1 800 REACH OUT, ext. 4093.
And don't worry, we'll keep it brief.

Discount applies to out-of-state calls direct dialed 5-10 pm, Sunday-Friday.
