the undergraduate chapters mishaps in the news. Hazing reports are one-sided just like the some news stories the media reports are one-sided.

Mixed feelings have been heard around campus about the "lines". Most students say that its silly and embarrassing. Here are some questions for you: Why do the pledges have your undivided attention? Why do you come out in the cold to watch them step around campus? Why do you find the time to watch them? Some students have even made comments that if they would've known about the new policy that they would've tried to pledge this year. These students are mislead - there is more than pledging a Greek organization. After you become a Delta, Alpha, Zeta, AKA, Sigma or Omega, there's alot of work involved. Joining any Greek organization is a lifetime commitment. Basically it takes funds to implement public service activities. Each organization finds itself sponsoring fundraising events, such as parties, hot dog sales and other profit making activities to operate effectively.

Omega Psi Phi has donated $1,000 to the university, United Way Fund and other organizations; Zeta Phi Beta sponsors blood drives; Alpha Kappa Alpha has worked with the salvation army; Delta Sigma Theta has worked the local soup kitchen; Alpha Phi Alpha has sponsored trips to basketball games for youth and Phi Beta Sigma has sponsored programs about positive thinking.

Spring Step Show Held

By Georgellen Brown

The Pan Hellenic Council held their annual spring Step Show on April 6, 1990 in closing of Greek Week.

Full participation was not adequate, for only two fraternities and two sororities participated in the show, out of the eight Greek organizations. The Delta Alpha Chapter of Phi Beta Sigma took first place in the fraternity category. The Beta Iota Chapter of Alpha Phi Alpha was in competition, but in my opinion, did an exhibition step. They just gave the audience a taste of what was to come at their dance which was to be held at Polo's the same night. Unfortunately, due to circumstances beyond their control, the dance was canceled, and so they did not get to show their bad *!# Alpha stuff.

As for the sorority competition, the Gamma Lambda Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha took first place, according to the judges. But, the
