"Rammin Sounds"

BY RODRICK MURRAY
Staff Writer

Eddie Murphy-Love's Alright: This album is on the alternative side of R&B. Several different musicians and vocalists lent a hand in making this album. The stars included: Luther Vandross, Michael Jackson, Garth Brooks and Bon Jovi. Their musical talent can be heard on one cut from the album, "Yeah". Personally, I think "Yeah" is the best song on the album. The album also includes songs such as: "Love's Alright", "Whatsupwitu", and "I Was A King." I give this album TWO RAMS!!

Arrested Development-Unplugged: This album is a recording of Arrested Development's live performance on MTV. The performance is called "Unplugged" because the artist aren't allowed to use electrical instruments, except for amplifiers for guitars. The album is full of energy and the delightful, mind-opening sound that Arrested Development always has to offer. The album includes songs such as: "Time", "Natural", "Raining Revolution", and "People Everyday." The album also includes instrumentals of almost every vocal song on the album. This album deserves THREE AND A HALF RAMS!!!

Regina Belle-Passion: The sweet sounds of Regina Belle are back. She sounds as smooth as ever. This album consist of sweet love songs to dance music. I advise anyone who loves music to check this album out. Songs included on this album are: "Passion", "A Whole New World" (Aladdin's Theme) and "If I Could." This album deserves FOUR RAMS!!!!

Lo-Key-Where Dey At?: This is a R&B crossed with Hip Hop album. Some songs on this album are: "Autumn Love", "Sweet On U", and "I Got A Thang 4 Ya!." This album receives TWO AND A HALF RAMS!!.

Posse

Between 1870 and 1900 nearly one million African-Americans crossed the Mississippi. Many of these people were cowboys. One third of the cowboys were Black.

The white cowboys of the Old West tried to emulate their England decendants which historians have labeled the "Nordic type" and the "Code of the West." "The "Nordic Type" is derived from early England's myths. These myths were about the savagery of the knights of the Round Table.

The "Code of the West" was created by the European settlers because they needed a myth to create manhood. This myth; however, was taken from the "Nordic Type" to try and preserve European myths.

In terms of cowboys,

Frank Eaton better known as Pistol Pete; Charlie Pettit and Nat Love better known as Deadwood Dick are three famous Black cowboys. These three men were in a class by themselves because in the Old West these men were easily recognized.

On May 7th, a movie called POSSE will be released. Co-screenwriters Sy Richardson and Mario Van Peebles have tried to capture the essence of the Black cowboy in this movie. The story takes places in Freemanville, a fictional town. The town was modeled after all-Black townships that were scattered from Oklahoma to Washington State.

The movie stars Big Daddy Kane, Stehen Baldwin, Mario Van Peebles, Tiny Lister Jr., Charles Lane and Tone Loc.

Ziggy's

From blues to reggae and hip-hop to progressive rock. These are some of the types of bands you'll see featured at Ziggy's Tavern every weekend.

This club which has been withstanding for 15 years, has recently come into the limelight in the last couple of years. Diversity is the reason why Ziggy's has suddenly become the place to be if you want to have a good time in Winston-Salem.

"We feature a different type of music for a different type of crowd," says Jay Stevens the owner of Ziggy's Tavern. "We have diverse talents and crowds."

Stevens, 26, is a 1989 graduate of Wake Forest University is not worried about the recent closings of other local clubs. "We have good local followings and we're not a high
