

CAMPUS HAPPENINGS

Junior Varsity Cheerleaders Are Ready To Cheer During Basketball Season

BY DEVONA MCPHATTER
Staff Writer

The 1994-1995 Junior Varsity Cheerleaders are gearing up to cheer the Lady Rams on to a victorious season. This group of young people are excited and eager about being Ram cheerleaders.

"It's a very different from what I'm used to because I've never been a cheerleader before! It's hard work, as far as getting into shape and getting used to the style that WSSU cheerleaders cheer, but I like it and look forward to cheering this season," said Samuel Gatling, a freshman Mass Communications major, from Jacksonville, N.C.

The JV Cheerleaders practice from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m., everyday and are enthusiastic about being WSSU

Cheerleaders.

"It feels great to be a WSSU cheerleader, because not everyone can be one. Of course its hard work but its worth it," said Wannette Ramsey, a freshman

"It feels great to be a WSSU cheerleader, because not everyone can be one... It's hard work but its worth it."

— Wannette Ramsey

Political Science major from Jacksonville, N.C.

"Cheering at WSSU for my second year has been both challenging and fun. It's a lot of hard work and takes patience, working in a group as large as the squad is now. It also takes a lot of special people in order to make it work smoothly. I honestly feel that J.V. has just what it takes to live up to the high standards of WSSU Cheerleaders," said Tasha Timberlake, Co-Captain of this year's squad.

"Cheering for my second year has been hard work but at the same time a lot of fun. Being Captain comes with a lot of responsibilities, but I love everyone of them. The squad is really great and they are a pleasure to work with. Be on the look out for WSSU's 1994-95 J.V. Cheerleaders and be ready to help us show some Ram Pride," said Joy Holmes.

Other squad members include: Mary Bennett, Camela Dingle, Sekina Arnold, Cheryl McLean, Erica Thames, Erin White, Adrienne Johnson, Tafoya Hubbard, Keisha Gibson and Vander Spruill.

Coach Debra Rivers said, "I am really enjoying working with these young people and I am pleased with their progress. I look forward to great things with them."

Sigmas & SG Rho Win Step Show

BY QUEYANA C. WOODS
Staff Writer

The brothers of the Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity and the ladies of Sigma Gamma Rho Sorority came out on top as Step Champions in the 1994 WSSU Homecoming Greek Step Show held October 15, 1994 at the LJV Coliseum.

Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity and Zeta Phi Beta Sorority placed second in the competition. Six Pan Hellenic organizations participated in the step show: Alpha Kappa Alpha, Zeta Phi Beta and Sigma Gamma Rho Sororities and Alpha Phi Alpha, Kappa Alpha Psi and Phi Beta Sigma Fraternities.

The groups were judged on step difficulty, creativity, precision and appearance. The audience gave overwhelming applause for the men of Alpha Phi Alpha with their 70s version of Superfly and Afros; the Kappas and their encore with the ladies and the Sigmas with their hilarious imitations of the different sororities.

The brothers of Phi Beta Sigma currently hold the title of step champions for the second consecutive year in a row. They dedicated their performance to their fraternity brother, the late Guy Parks. The ladies of Sigma Gamma Rho gave an outstanding performance with a female rendition of Kappa Alpha Psi.

Consortium from page 1

from WITS and a significant number of South Africa's black doctors also matriculated there.

"Collaborative efforts of this nature will greatly advance WITS University as a proactive change agent in the New South Africa," said Dr. June Sinclair. "Reciprocal benefits through HBCUs are important to achieve a level of reprobation through our experiences. This is definitely not one way traffic." In addition to being a university administrator, Sinclair is also a candidate for judgeship in South Africa's highest court.

Funding for the consortium comes from B&C Associates Incorporated, a public relations firm in High Point, N.C. WSSU serves as the "headquarters" of this project.

Career Services Helps With Jobs

BY KENYATTA JENNINGS
Staff Writer

Usually, by this point in the semester, students have begun to feel the money-crunch more than ever. With Christmas right around the corner, the old adage "poor college student" generally describes them.

Many students have chosen part-time jobs to remedy their financial woes, many others would like to do the same but don't quite know where to start looking.

On Winston-Salem State University's campus students can go to the Career Services Center in the Student Affairs Building for help.

The Career Services Center offers job placement to students with 30 or more semester hours and it offers job counseling to all students who may be having problems with their present jobs.

"About 160 to 170 students are placed in jobs each year through the job placement program," says Gregory Hairston, Career Services coordinator. "The placement rate is very high in regards to students who apply for the jobs and actually get them, usually about 70 to 80 percent."

The program places students in a range of positions according to experience but does require that the job not be over 20 hours per week. The program also does not place freshmen as a rule, but will gladly counsel anyone who needs job counseling services.

Career Services is also responsible for many of the seminars and on campus interviews by local employers.

Hairston suggests that all students attend these events as many of them may offer job opportunities or valuable information one could use in a job search whether it be now or in the future.

Hairston says that the most important thing to remember, when considering a part time job, is that the job is only secondary and that your academics are your real reason for being here. "Be a good employee, but don't put the job before school."

Hairston can be contacted at 750-3262 or on the Main Floor of the Student Affairs Building.

About 160 to 170 students are placed in jobs each year through the job placement program.