Celebrating the legacy of civil rights leader, Martin Luther King Jr.

By STACEY HOLLENBECK
McClatchy-Tribune

The Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. made his mark on history during the civil rights movement in the 1950s and 1960s. Motivated by his faith, King fought against the oppression of his fellow African Americans by protesting segregation. His efforts to combat the injustices were met with hostility and hatred, and eventually led to his early death. But King's drive to achieve harmony among the races led to the desegregation of the country and set America on the path toward racial equality.

HISTORY OF THE DAY

In 1986, nearly 18 years after his assassination, Americans celebrated the first Martin Luther King Day, a holiday established to pay homage to the preacher and inspirational leader. By this time, 17 states already had established holidays to honor Martin Luther King Jr. Coretta Scott King, his widow, worked hard to make the national holiday a reality.

In 2003, the theme of Martin Luther King Day became, "Remember! Celebrate! Act! A day on, not a day off." Although some professionals and students see the third Monday in January as a day off from work or school, others see it as an opportunity to volunteer their time. By working to improve their communities and help those in need, these Americans are acting on behalf of King's generous spirit.

A STREET NAMED KING

Martin Luther King Jr.'s portrait hangs over an Oakland, Calif., roadway renamed in his honor.

According to Derek H. Alderman, author of the essay "Naming Streets for Martin Luther King, Jr.: No Easy Road" published in "Landscape and Race in the United States" (Routledge, $34.95), there were more than 730 streets in U.S. cities and towns named after Martin Luther King Jr. as of 2003. Most of these exist in the southeast United States. Georgia, where King was born, leads the states in streets named after him with 105. States without a street named after King include Montana, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont.

FAMOUS QUOTES

Through his eloquent speeches, sermons and writings, Martin Luther King Jr. inspired a nation. Here are a few of his most memorable and moving quotations:

“Injustice anywhere is a threat to justice everywhere.”
— “Letter from Birmingham Jail,” April 16, 1963

“I have a dream that one day this nation will rise up and live out the true meaning of its creed: ‘We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal.’”
— King’s “I Have a Dream” speech, Aug. 28, 1963

“I believe that unarmed truth and unconditional love will have the final word in reality. This is why right, temporarily defeated, is stronger than evil triumphant.”
— King’s Nobel Prize acceptance speech, Dec. 10, 1964

“Like anybody, I would like to live a long life — longevity has its place. But I’m not concerned about that now. I just want to do God’s will. And he’s allowed me to go up to the mountain. And I’ve looked over, and I’ve seen the Promised Land. I may not get there with you. But I want you to know tonight, that we, as a people, will get to the Promised Land.”
— King’s “I’ve Been to the Mountaintop” speech, April 3, 1968

REMEMBER! CELEBRATE! ACT!

To truly celebrate Martin Luther King Day and honor its “Day of Service” theme, Americans can work to improve the lives of those in need or help out in their communities. Here are some ways to celebrate the day through community service:

- Bring meals to homebound neighbors
- Shovel elderly neighbors’ walkways
- Serve meals at a homeless shelter
