

THE NEWS ARGUS

Vol. 46, No. 2

◆ Winston-Salem State University Student Newspaper Since 1962 ◆

www.thenewsargus.com

Tuesday, October 7, 2008

'ALWAYS WATCHING...'

Students gradually returning to campus quarters

Photo by James Nance

Wingate by Wyndham is one of the temporary residences for WSSU students.

BY STEVEN J. GAITHER
SPORTS EDITOR

When Autumn Duke found out her on-campus housing assignment had been moved off campus this summer, she couldn't believe it.

"I called my mom and I was like 'are you serious?'" Duke said.

The senior from Charlotte applied for housing during the scheduled application period. A week after she received the notice that she was assigned to Wilson Hall, she got an official e-mail informing her she had been reassigned to one of three hotels -- Wingate by Wyndham, Hawthorne INN or Brookstown Inn -- in downtown Winston-Salem.

Duke is one of approximately 140 WSSU students assigned to one of three hotels in the city, according to Assistant Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs Calvin Phillips.

Phillips said that the department of housing and residence life usually reserves about 900 of the 2,377 beds for incoming freshmen each year.

More than 1,300 freshmen were accepted this past spring.

"We were asked for more space [for freshmen]," Phillips said.

"We were able to accommodate the freshmen to a point. We had a meeting with the Chancellor Reaves, and he decided to guarantee housing for freshmen."

Students
continued on Page 3

Rams lose 'offensive' coach

BY STEPHANIE DOUTHIT
EDITOR IN CHIEF

The WSSU football team is 1-4 on the field and missing one of its coaches.

Nick Calcutta and the athletic department reached an agreement that Calcutta could no longer be the Ram offensive coordinator because he was accused of making a racial epithet during a team meeting.

"In the best interest of the football program, the team, the athletic department and the University, mutual separation was the right thing to do," athletic director Chico Caldwell said in an interview with the Winston-Salem Journal.

Caldwell said that the [athletic department's] decision was harsh, and a swift response was called for to allow time for ample research and to look into all the details to make a final decision.

Calcutta had coached the first game and was suspended indefinitely by the second game.

Offensive
continued on Page 4

Parking decals reported stolen from vehicles in campus lots

BY TRYGEANIA DOWELL
NEWS REPORTER

Window decals have been reported stolen in at least three parked vehicles within the past two months.

According to the WSSU police blotter, a record of campus incidents, vehicles parked in lot P and lot DD were broken into and WSSU parking permits were the only things reported stolen.

Sept. 25 senior Charity Holloway reported her decal

Stolen decals
continued on Page 3

BRIEFLY STATED

October is National Breast Cancer Awareness Month. The organization is comprised of several national public service organizations and agencies that partner to build breast cancer awareness, share information and provide access to screening services. This month many Web sites will use the color pink. The color and the ribbon symbolize breast cancer awareness.

Source: nbcam.org

Oct. 10 is the last day to register to vote in North Carolina for the November primary election. Registration can be completed in-person or by mail. Correct information must be submitted to the county board of elections office. For more information visit the State Board of Elections Web site.

Source: sboc.state.nc.us

Tennessee State University officials confirmed that a flash drive containing more than 9,000 students' Social Security numbers was missing. A student, who used the drive for saving a homework assignment, returned the flash drive days after it was reported missing by a financial aid counselor. It has not been indicated whether the student tampered with the drive or not. State auditing officials will investigate further.

Source: Black College Wire