

Let the good times fall '09

University cheerleader waves WSSU banner at Urban League Football Classic at Giants Stadium.

Miss WSSU
Courtney DuBose and
Mr. Ram
Davril Massey attend the
Mr. and Miss Alumni Tea
during Homecoming Week.

The men of Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, Inc. perform at the "Stroll Off" on the Greek plots during Family Day.

A child enjoys a gift during the annual Red and Black Family Benefit.

As we (The News Argus staff) look forward to the 2010 spring semester, we also reflect on the old and rediscovered photos of some of the most memorable WSSU events during fall 2009.

A VERY short list of the semester's highlights not pictured on these pages include:

"Walk a Mile in Her Shoes"--an international event that takes a stand against physical and sexual violence against women.

Former Ram turned NFL player William Hayes paid for players' last names to be placed on football team jerseys.

WSSU's own Derwin Montgomery became the first traditional student in the University's history to be elected as a Winston-Salem City Council member.

WSSU celebrated 117 years.

Page by Tiffany Gibson.
Photos by Garrett Garms.