

Job Recruiting Combines Aspects Commando Raid, Church Picnic

MURFREESBORO - Job recruiting, which combines aspects of a commando raid and a church picnic, is executed with lightning speed at Chowan College and a good time is generally had by all.

Just recently, for example, numerous industrial recruiters representing many employers arrived on campus, were treated to meals in the college cafeteria, interviewed students and vanished, but not until after they hired 43 students and booked dozens of others for further interviews with their personnel departments.

Not all eagerly courted prospects will receive so much as an associate of arts degree. Instead, some will be handed certificates showing that they have completed various secretarial, business, clerical, printing and other programs which prepare students for skilled jobs in many classifications.

Chowan prepares many young men and women to serve in occupations which do not require a number of scholastic degrees, but call for skills for which trade schools and other institutions are unable to provide training. Naturally, occupational training is not all that Chowan offers. As in other two-year colleges, most students take academic training or "university" courses which place heavy stress on the liberal arts and sciences and give students a start toward major studies they can pursue after transferring to a four-year school. But occupational programs do provide education for many students and demand for graduates is even greater than recent hirings would indicate.

For one thing, many students are choosy enough not to take the first job offered. One, recently turning down numerous offers, said, "I want to find out what's available all over, and what I find out will eventually lead me to the right job." Others already had jobs and participated in interviews just to see what rival companies were offering. Also, many other students are not seeking out recruiters because they have already lined up work or will locate it through their teachers, many of whom are fresh from industry and maintain close contacts with employers. Most of Chowan's faculty members are experienced in other fields of employment and have many contacts outside of educational circles.

ready lined up work or will locate it through their teachers, many of whom are fresh from industry and maintain close contacts with employers. Most of Chowan's faculty members are experienced in other fields of employment and have many contacts outside of educational circles.

Chowan Pep Squads Choose 66-67 Commanders-In-Chief

MURFREESBORO - Sue Allsbrook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Allsbrook of 1402 Church Street, Scotland Neck, will serve as head cheerleader during the 1966-67 year at Chowan College.

A popular and active blonde sophomore, Sue has performed throughout much of North Carolina and Virginia as featured vocalist with a student folksong combo, "The Canterbury Three." She has also been active in all areas of campus life and served, during the summer, as a teacher's aide in the Head Start Program.

Bonnie Harriet Zorn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Zorn of 100 Dogwood Drive, Chesapeake, Va.,

is commander for the Bravettes, Chowan's precision drill team. Bonnie, an expert with the bow and arrow, is one of few young coeds active in the sport of archery.

Teresa Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Taylor of Middlesboro, Ky., is captain for Chowan's marching majorettes. An outstanding scholar and student of science, she has been active with majorette and marching band activities for years.

The Herald is the strongest selling force in the Roanoke-Chowan area.

CHEERLEADERS enjoyed expert instruction at Camp Chowan Cheerleaders School from Jeanie Irelan, director of pompon girls at the University of Indiana.

...welcome Chowan
College Students & Faculty

from

Peebles KIMBRELL

... we invited you to make our store your headquarters while at Chowan College.

PEEBLES-KIMBRELL CO.
DEPARTMENT STORE

315 E. MAIN ST.

MURFREESBORO

"-we welcome you..."

—and invite you to visit us

"Your Family Rexall Drug Store"
... for all your Prescription
and Health Needs.

- PENS • NOTEBOOKS
- HALLMARK GREETING CARDS

Murfreesboro Pharmacy

129 E. MAIN ST.