

A sure sign that summer vacation are coming to an end and another school year beginning is the familiar registration line. Students find the line is not as long as it looks giving them several more hours of freedom before class begins.

Fashion show hosted by school's merchandising class

"Look Sharp" was the theme of a fashion show presented by the Chowan College Visual Merchandising Class in Turner Auditorium in McDowell Columns during the fall semester last year.

Sports, business and night-time wear and evening gowns were modeled by students of the Merchandising

Management Program, directed by Professor Hope Clark.

Casual and holiday fashions from four Murfreesboro stores, Suzanna's, The Evans Co., Belk's and the Chowan College Book Store, were seen.

"The fashion show was designed to be of interest both to students and the general public," Clark noted.

Social issues discussed

Domestic violence was the topic of the ISSUES FOR WOMEN program to be held in Marks Hall auditorium at Chowan College Tuesday (March 26).

Reese Trimmer of the North Carolina Justice Academy, Salem, spoke at two sessions.

This program, formerly THE PROFESSIONAL — A WOMAN, is an annual event jointly sponsored by Chowan's Department of Business, the Hertford County Council on the Status of Women, and the Agricultural Extension Service of Hertford County.

The evening session included a panel representing mental health, legal and law enforcement professions. Members included Rosemary Royce, R.N. and Family Nurse Practitioner, who heads the medical support staff at the Roanoke-Chowan Human Services Center. Her topic is "Mental Health Alternatives and Psychological Aspects of Abuse."

Attorney Rosiland Grant of Ahoskie spoke on "Legal Aspects of Abuse." The topic of Connie Piland of Winton, chairperson of SAFE (Services for Abused Families with Emergencies) was

"Community Aspects of Abuse."

Mrs. Dorothy Wallace, chairman of the Department of Business, noted, "Domestic violence is very much in the limelight. We're hearing a lot about it lately. The Department of Business was pleased to help sponsor this ISSUES FOR WOMEN program as a public service."

She continued, "This is a problem that needs to be dealt with. It will not go away on its own. The first step is to increase the awareness of the public concerning domestic violence. The program was very informative and helpful and we would like to thank all who participated and attended."

The 1985 baseball team had several proud accomplishments including a 20-game win season.
