Vice President Explained

By RACHEL PITTMAN and WARREN SEXTON

Americans cannot be makers of history, perhaps; but, at this juncture in American political history, every American can view firsthand history in the making. Everyone likes a "first." Currently, the first Vice President of the United States to be picked by a President and confirmed by Congress is in the offing as provided by Section 2 of Amendment XXV of the United States Constitution which was ratified February 10, 1967.

Section 2 of the Amendment reads: Whenever there is a vacancy in the office of the Vice President, the President shall nominate a Vice President who shall take the office upon confirmation by a majority vote of both houses of Congress.

This reality results from the resignation of former Vice President Spiro Agnew on Wednesday, October 10, 1973. The only other Vice President to resign was John C. Calhoun who resigned the post December 28, 1832. Calhoun had been chosen by the South Carolina legislature on December 12, 1832, to serve in the

Music Program Presented for Wilson Club

Professor Robert Mulder and freshman Jason Cowan recently presented a musical program for the Wilson Kiwanis Club. The invitation was extended to Mulder by Russell Stephenson, Chowan College trustee and officer of the club.

Following a dinner in the Cherry Hotel, the Chowan duo presented entertainment in the hotel ballroom. Other special guests of the club included members of the Key Club at Atlantic Christian College.

Mulder played a series of show tunes including themes from the movies "Love Story," "The Godfather," and "Summer of '42." Appropriate poems to introduce each selection were quoted by Mulder who is now entering his ninth year as professor of English at Chowan.

Cowan, a freshman at Chowan, from Virginia Beach. His portion of the program included guitar. Several of his selections included harmonica solos. By using a metal frame designed for holding the harmonica, Cowan was able to accompany himself and provide an unusual musical feat for his audience. Among his selections were "Country Road" and "Heart of Gold."

Mulder closed the program with a medly of ragtime piano favorites.

Both musicians are actively engaged in extra-curricular events on campus. Cowan recently played for the St. Barnabas PURGATORY, and Motor Sports Club.

United States Senate. He had not been chosen as President Andrew Jackson's running mate for Jackson's second term. Being a "lame-duck" Vice President, Calhoun resigned from the Vice Presidential post to assume his Senate seat. Since Mr. Agnew's resignation followed his entering a plea of NOLO CONTENDERE to the charges leveled against him in federal court, circumstances surrounding the two resignations are very dissimilar. The parts of the Twenty-fifth Amendment which seem more dramatic are the two sections relevant to presidential disability. The short sections concerning the Vice President appear almost an addendum. It is interesting that only six years after its addition to the Constitution that this particular part of the Twenty-fifth Amendment would be the first section to be implemented

Not having a format to follow, Congressional leaders are blazing new political trails and establishing precedents for future generations. It seems the confirmation of the Vice President designate, Gerald R. Ford, will be handled by the Judiciary Committee of the House of Representatives and the Senate Rules Committee-both having staked out claims thereto. Public hearings will be held by the two committees, but no real problem is anticipated in securing confirmation. President Nixon accomplished a political coup of sorts in choosing a member of Congress to fill the vacancy.

"His appointment is a olive branch to the Congress," says Democratic Rep. Thomas Foley of Washington State. "Depending on how much of an ear the President gives him, Ford can be great assistance in softening the pugnacious attitude in the White House toward the Congress.'

This widely held congressional view exists despite Mr. Ford's record as a tireless advocate of any and all Nixon causes (probably a major reason the President picked him to succeed Agnew). Mr. Ford is the sort of partisan who manages to maintain excellent personal relationships with political oponents. In his 25 years in the House, he has established a wide vocal selections in which he accompanied himself on the members of hoth parties members of both parties.
