McAllister Named New Photography Prof.

By LOUIS SAUNDERS

Mr. William C. McAllister came to Chowan's teaching staff about one month ago as the Graphic Arts Department's new photography instructor. So far he likes Chowan and has high hopes of showing students the capabilities they may acquire through photographic ingenuity. By all standards he is qualified for the job.

Faculty Student Relations Hears Student Grievances

The Faculty-Student Relations Committee has set up its schedule for this year: 7 p.m., Camp Hall 210, the second Wednesday of each month.

The committee tries to provide a forum for grievances from students. The committee tries to solve problems by discussion of the college policies and by suggesting the appropriate office or administrator to handle the student's problem. The committee is not a policy making committee.

Students are urged to bring any problem they have to the committee. It may be helpful to contact a member of the committee before meeting with them so that background information, if any needed, can be assembled. The members of the committee are Mr. Hazelton, Chairman; Mr. Pruette, Vice Chairman; Mr. Collins; Mrs. Jackson; Mr. Wolfskill; Mrs. Kelly; Mr. Paul; all SGA Executive Officers; and three student members appointed by the SGA President.

Listed below are the tentative Deadline and Printing Schedule of the "Smoke Signals" for the academic year 1975-76.

Green Hall Student Center Opens Daily from 1pm-11pm

Green Hall Student Center is open daily this year from 1:00 PM until 11:00 PM for student recreation and enjoyment. Mr. Steve Nelson, employed through the Title III program, is responsible for scheduling and supervising for center. He has eleven students through the work-study program assisting him.

The men's intramural office (12) and the Student Government Association office will be located in the Center this year. Mr. Nelson can be contacted in office 13 from 1:00-11:00 Monday through Friday or by calling ext. 282.

The Student Center is attempting to provide a variety of recreational opportunities this year. Presently they have a color television, a juke box, two ping pong tables, three foosball machines, and table games. Additional games can be added and improvements can be made in the appearance of the Center, if the students desire them. If you have not been in the Center this year drop by and check out the place. While you are there let Mr. Nelson have your ideas of changes that you would like made in the Center this year.

Mr. Nelson is also offering his assistance in providing equipment and—or help to any group wishing to sponsor any type of student activity. His door is always open, so feel free to call on him at any time.

BSU-CCF Offers Invitation To Chowan College Students

By RICH HAMBLETON

The Baptist Student Union - Christian College Fellowship (BSU-CCF) is very active on and of the Chowan campus. This religion-based organization is open to anyone on campus, and they have a busy schedule for this year, with something to offer to just about everyone.

Activities for this year include: Regular meeting — Each Tuesday night at 7:00 P.M. Discussions of business, upcoming events, plans, etc.

Prayer meeting — Group meets once each week for a session of prayer. Times will be announced later.

Luncheon ministry — Members meet with cafeteria staff for open discussion and fellowship.

Rest home ministry — Each Wednesday night members visit a near-by rest home, where they brighten the lives of the elderly through talking and fellowship.

Revival teams — Teams of four or five volunteers visit a church and put on the service on Sunday, with speakers and singers.

Apostoloi team — Group of members who are good singers visit churches to put on song service.

Singspiration — A song service once per month on campus.

Coffeehouse — Each Thursday evening a coffeehouse will be held. Activities range from a Talent Night to movies. These

Mr. Green brings with him. It is exactly like the original except it is one-fifth the size...and, of course, except for the crack. Those attending Mr. Green's program will have opportunity to inspect it closely. Mr. Green flew to London to have the bell cast by the Whitechapel Bell Foundry, makers of the original Liberty Bell. A sequence in his film shows the bell being made. To be sure it didn't get cracked, he hand carried it with him on his jet flight back to the U.S.

Ray Green's documentary color film recaptures for present-day audiences the patriotic events and sacrifices that created and brought forth a new nation. . . America's first thirteen, in spirit and in reality.

Raphael Green, born and reared in "Colonial" New England, served his country in the Far East on a special White House Reparations Survey. One of the nation's leading film-lecturers, Ray Green has been to such far away places as China, Manchuria, North Korea, Afghanistan, Outer Mongolia, and Siberia. Now, he has filmed America's thirteen "Colonies" in order that his audiences may re-evaluate and appreciate even more the freedoms won by the American Revolution.

"The Spirit of '76" is the first attraction in a six-part Our American Heritage series, sponsored by the Chowan College Bicentennial Committee. A season ticket to the series is available to Chowan students for $6.00; and to faculty-staff members and other adults for $10.00. Tickets may be purchased from Dr. R. Hargus Taylor, Chairman, Chowan Bicentennial Committee.

" Spirit Of '76 "

"The Spirit of '76," a special film documentary for America's Bicentennial Celebration, will soon be shown locally by Raphael Green in Columns Auditorium on Friday, September 19, at 8:00 P.M. Student admission is $1.00.

Ray Green's cameras captured the spirit of 1776 as the entire Green family delved into history, riding back two centuries into the past. It was a far cry from the ride of Paul Revere. The Greens rode through the "Colonies" in a fabulous motorhome, ate and slept at one historical site after another.

Included in the filming, among others, are Old North Church, Faneuil Hall, and Haymarket Square in Boston; New England colonial life at Sturbridge; New York's Wall Street, Trinity Church; and the Hudson; the Liberty Bell at Philadelphia; Washington's Delaware River crossing; Valley Forge; Washington, D.C.; Virginia's Jamestown; Yorktown, where Cornwallis surrendered; Williamsburg restorations; Mt. Vernon and Richmond; the Carolinas and Savannah.

One of the highlights is an historical re-enactment at York, Maine. Hundreds of colonial militiamen clad in the dress of that period march to the stirring tunes of a spirited fife and drum corps. They all attend the local church, the women bonneted and tightly laced. An usher in black tails walks about with a long pole, with rabbit tail attached to tickle the noses of nodding parishioners as they listen to a three hour sermon! Included in the congregation are two converted Penobscot Indians in native dress.

An added extra is the replica of America's Liberty Bell which will not always be of a religious nature.

Fall Convention — A retreat at Ridgecrest on the weekend of October 3-5. Well known singers and speakers, as well as many recreational activities such as mountain climbing and hiking.

New this year is a "come as you are" church service on Sunday mornings. This will be offered to students of Chowan who don't feel like getting dressed up to worship God. This will begin soon.

Most activities take place in the BSU building, Askew Hall. Chaplain Taylor, the advisor for this organization can provide information about events, or ask any member. Or better yet, come out and see for yourself!
