

Murfreesboro Joins Nationwide Aluminum Recycling Program

By REYNOLDS METALS COMPANY

Reynolds Aluminum Recycling Company today announced it is expanding its nationwide recycling program — which pays cash on the spot for all-aluminum cans and other clean household aluminum — to include a mobile unit collection stop in Murfreesboro.

E. J. Kelly, Jr., Mid-Atlantic regional recycling manager, in making the announcement, said the program began on Thursday, January 15, when the mobile arrived at Chowan College in front of the gym from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m. The recycling unit returns every Thursday at the same location and time each month.

The public is encouraged to bring all-aluminum beverage cans and other clean household aluminum found in the kitchen such as pie cans, frozen dinner trays and foil to the unit and receive payment of 15 cents per pound.

Aluminum is easy to identify. The best way is to place a magnet on the side and ends of the can. If it does not stick, the can is aluminum. Many cans have the words "recyclable aluminum" printed on the side, have rounded bottom edges and no seam on the side.

With the addition of Murfreesboro, the number of locations in the state moves to 43. "This program will make for a even cleaner Murfreesboro environment," Mr. Kelly said. "In addition, aluminum recycling conserves an important natural resource and saves energy — each time aluminum is recycled, a 95 percent energy savings results over producing aluminum from virgin ore."

Mr. Kelly pointed out that in other cities with recycling programs civic clubs, church groups, charitable organizations and schools use the Reynolds program as a worthwhile method of raising cash for their needy projects.

Since beginning its program in 1967, the company has paid the public about $25 million and collected in excess of four billion all-aluminum beverage cans. In the first ten months of this year, Reynolds collected the equivalent of 1.6 billion all-aluminum cans from the public, operating its program in 36 states, an increase of almost three times over the similar period in 1974.

"We are very proud of the fact that Reynolds is redeeming the equivalent of about one out of three cans sold by its can division, the leading aluminum can manufacturer in the United States," Mr. Kelly said.

Health Careers Day a Success

By PHIL ROYCE

Some 100 high school students and 10 counselors were guests of Chowan's Science-Mathematics faculty for Health Careers Day Dec. 5.

The program was held in McDowell Columns auditorium and featured addresses by Dr. Ruby G. Garnes, chairperson, Department of Nursing, Atlantic Christian College; Ms. Sandra Sommer (ASCP), instructor, Department of Medical Technology, Medical College of Virginia; Ottis Rhodes (RPT), physical therapist, Roanoke-Chowan Hospital. Ahoskie; and Lamont Nottingham, director, Allied Health Education, Eastern Area Health Education Center, Greenville.

Dr. Barnes spoke on "Careers in Nursing"; Ms. Sommer on "Careers in Medical Technology"; Rhodes on "Careers in Physical Therapy"; and Nottingham on "Allied Health Careers."

A showing of the film, "Is A Career in the Health Services For You?," closed the program, held from 9:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

Dr. Gath Faille is chairman of the science department and Carl Simmons is chairman of the mathematics department.

Chowan Receives Largest Donation Ever

By Phil Royce

The E. Lee Oliver Chair of Bible and Religion is being established at Chowan College with an initial gift of $130,000 from Lee Fagan of Stanardsville, Va. whose mother, E. Lee Oliver, graduated from Chowan in 1893.

Fagan stipulated that income from the gift, the largest single donation in the history of the college for endowment purposes, be used to undergird the college and strengthen the religion department through establishing a Chair of Bible and Religion.

In commenting on the gift, Dr. Bruce E. Whitaker, Chowan's president, noted: "The department of religion is an important part of the academic program at Chowan, a baptist college. The generous gift from a long-time friend will add strength to strength in enabling the college to serve and prepare its students even better."

"Mr. Fagan's gift towards the endowment of the E. Lee Oliver Chair of Bible and Religion—along with the earlier approval of the establishing of the Colgate W. Darden, Jr. Chair of Business—means that Chowan College is 'on the way' but especially for the two-year college."

Continued Dr. Whitaker, "At Chowan, every student takes at least two religion courses. Thus, each student who attends Chowan will benefit from Mr. Fagan's."

Chowan's president said the gift endowing a Chair of Bible and Religion at Chowan is a "fitting memorial" to Fagan's mother, who died Sept. 13, 1966. Fagan earlier donated his mother's 1893 diploma the college's Antiquities Room along with an invitation to and program for her May 29, 1893 graduation from the Chowan Baptist Female Institute.

Fagan is a graduate of Washington and Lee University and served as auditor with Greyhound Corp. for thirty years. A Franklin, Va. native, he is a master Mason and active Shriner, holding memberships in Piedmont Stella Lodge No. 50 and Virginia Heights Lodge No. 324 in Roanoke; Scottish Rite-Richmond Chapter; Commandery and Elks Lodge in Charlottesville; ACCA Temple and the Jesters in Richmond; the Eastern Star and White Shrine in Charlottesville; the Amaranth in Crozet; and the Odd Fellows in Stanardsville.

Fagan has had a long-time interest in Franklin Baptist Church and the Shriners Crippled Children's Hospital in Greenville, S.C. He is a member of Stanardsville Baptist Church.

Chowan's business manager, Ben Sutton, said the gift boosts Chowan's general endowment to about $700,000.

North Carolina

PROSPECTIVE TEACHERS Scholarship Loan Fund

WHO

■ Any resident of North Carolina who is interested in preparing to teach in the public schools of the State is eligible to apply. Preference will be given to high school seniors.

AMOUNT CRITERIA

■ The awards amount to $900 for each regular school year.
■ In awarding scholarship loans consideration will be given to such factors and circumstances as: aptitude, purposefulness, scholarship, character, financial need, and areas or subjects in which the demands for teachers are considered greatest.

WHERE TO APPLY WHEN TO APPLY

■ Apply in writing to the Prospective Teachers Scholarship Loan Fund, State Department of Public Instruction, Raleigh, North Carolina, 27611.
■ March 1 is the deadline for priority consideration by the Awards Committee.

HOW SELECTED ELIGIBLE COLLEGES

■ Recipients are selected in accordance with the above criteria by an Awards Committee.
■ Recipients of scholarship loan awards may attend any North Carolina post-secondary institution, public or private, which offers teacher preparation or work leading to teacher certification.

IF INTERESTED

■ Check with your high school principal, counselor, superintendent, or write directly to the Prospective Teachers Scholarship Loan Fund, State Department of Public Instruction, Raleigh, North Carolina, for further information and application blank.

Wrestling

Wednesday

January 28

In Gym

At 7:00 P.M.

Chowan

Vs.

Norfolk State