

Lees-McRae 'Cats' Come From Behind to Win

Lees-McRae College scored 34 straight points to erase Chowan College's 14-0 lead and win its homecoming game 34-20 here Saturday afternoon, Oct. 16.

Brave Head Coach Jim Garrison used three quarterbacks and threw two touchdown passes. The defense scored the other touchdown. After trailing 14-7 at the half, Lees-McRae completely dominated the second half, running the score up to 34-14 before the Braves scored at the end of the game.

In the first half, Chowan appeared to be picking up where it left off last Saturday when the Braves defeated Ferrum 14-2. Wide receiver Dave Palumbo received a 32-yard pass from quarterback Mike Posternock for the game's first score just before the end of the first quarter.

Chowan scored again early in the second period when defensive tackle John Twitty recovered a fumble from the Bobcats, punter in the endzone. Randy Miller kicked both extra points for the 14-0 lead.

With a little over a minute left in the half, quarterback Bob Hamilton found tight end Chris Canja in the endzone for the Bobcats' first score. Paul Talley, who would later help wreck the Braves, kicked the extra point to narrow Chowan's lead to 14-7.

"We're back in the ball game now," shouted a teenage fan from the sidelines. His prophecy more than came true in the second half as Lees-McRae scored two field goals and three touchdowns in a row.

Talley began the scoring with a 45-yard field goal late in the third quarter.

With three minutes gone in the final period, Lees-McRae took the lead 17-14 on a two-yard run by Hamilton to cap a four-play drive set up with an interception at Chowan's 34.

After the kickoff, Lees-McRae's fierce defense forced the Braves backwards. Randy Shumaker was forced to punt on the run from his endzone after taking a high snap from center. The 12-yard punt went out of bounds at the Braves' 18. Moments later running back Paul McKenney scored from Chowan's seven.

With 3:01 left in the game, Talley added a 41-yard field goal. But the Bobcats weren't through yet. With just seconds left, safety Wes Douglas fell on a fumble by scrambling reserve quarterback Barry Barkley in the Braves' endzone. The extra point ended Lees-McRae's lead to 34-14.

An interference call that advanced the ball 47 yards set up Chowan's final score. Barkley dodged several defenders, kept his composure and found flanker Dino Lloyd in the endzone with a 30-yard scoring strike.

Chowan was held to minus 14 yards rushing in the second half. Running back Ken Waters led the Braves' runners with 47 yards on 14 carries. Posternock completed five of eight passes for 83 yards and on score. Barkley completed two of four passes for 37 yards and one touchdown.

Linebacker Rayford Petty led the defence with 12 tackles, nine unassisted. Twitty and end Rodney Robbins made five solo tackles each while back Ted Williams, end Steve Abernathy, linebacker Craig Vosler, and tackle Eddie Deeb had four unassisted tackles each.

William Jones Is Featured

TAMMY BATES

Mr. Jones is from Rock Hill, South Carolina. He is the son of Mrs. Lucy Clemons of Rock Hill. He has one sister left at home, which he sometimes call his twin. Her name is Delcine Jones. This is her final year in high school. This past week she was elected "Disco Queen" of Rock Hill High's Home coming.

Rock Hill is a moderate, large and almost peaceful city. The city has big plans for expansion. They have started a new jail and police department, new banks for the industries that will be producing more products, the placing of all funeral homes on one street which will be paid for by the city, the innovation of some low areas and a coliseum and other new projects.

SLIPPERY — Rain made the ball very slippery. Eddie Deeb scrambled over everyone in attempt to recover the loose ball. Chowan did get its hands on this fumble, but later in the game Chowan had its own problems with keeping the ball in the runners hands.

A Short Story

Sandy Visits Parker

by Linda Steece

Once upon a time Parker Hall had open dorm. A girl by the name of Sandy decided to go see how the opposite sex lived.

As she walked in the lovely door, she saw the glorious post office known greatly for its efficiency in getting the mail out on time. It was so wonderful she could barely tear herself away.

After this she walked over to the elevator. So this is what an elevator is she thought. Living on the third floor of Belk doesn't give you luxuries like that. Then it happened the sort of thing that wrecks the moment, a guy came over and told her that he had been stuck in the same elevator for two hours the day before. This alarmed her greatly so she decided to walk up the stairs.

As she made her way to the fourth floor she decided to take the elevator weather it got stuck or not.

Sandy finally made it to the fifth floor and went in to see her friend.

As she walked in she saw the elegant and spacious rooms. In fact so the guys would have more rooms they forgot to put in sinks.

Suddenly, her eyes got big and her heart started beating faster and more rapidly. A guy across the hall was drinking out of a champagne glass. She thought it was completely against the school policy to do things like that. She started to leave when she found out it was only mountain dew.

After sitting down and talking for a while she saw a strange sight. A short little guy with a green hat was climbing up the walls. When asking her friend if she was seeing things, he answered that she was not and added that the cafeteria food did it every time.

Cause for Rebellion

"The average American, no matter what he may sometimes say or what is said in his name, is not rebelling against tax inequities. He is rebelling against taxes, period. He is rebelling against property and sales taxes. He is rebelling against the hidden tax that inflation represents. He is rebelling against all those itemized deductions from his paycheck—against the fact that his 'take-home pay' diverges more and more from his formal salary, so that his hard-won wage increases seem to exist only on paper and never find their way into his pocket."

Parents Special Guests at Girls Volleyball Tilt

Parents of the players will be guests of Chowan College for "Volleyball Parents' Night" when the women's volleyball team hosts William and Mary in a doubleheader beginning at 6:30 p. m. in Chowan's gym, Monday, Nov. 1.

The parents will be guests of the college for both dinner in Thomas Cafeteria and the game.

Chowan will need one of its best matches to stay on even terms with William and Mary. In the first match, William and Mary won 15-1, 15-8. The Braves played their poorest game of the season in the first game but showed improvement in the second game. Based on the spirited and improved play of Chowan in recent games, Mrs. Collins believes Chowan has a good opportunity to make each game competitive in the rematch. Chowan has only three sophomores among its 14 players.

Chowan evened its record at 7-7 in its last outing, an easy 15-2, 15-0 win over Greensboro. The Lady Braves scored six points on the serves of co-captain Susan Ferebee of Camden and four on those of Delores Bihy of Staunton, Va.

In the second game, Chowan scored all 15 points off the serves of Peggy McLemore, who aced 10 of the 15 points. This is her second such feat of the season.

Chowan also recently beat Meredith, 15-11, 9-15, 15-10; and Christopher Newport, 15-6, 15-8.

In the deciding game against Meredith, Chowan played together "very well," noted Coach Janet Collins. After having trouble with their sets in the first two games, the Braves "went back to our regular setting offense," Mrs. Collins reported. She said the team also scored well on the spike-three points and one side out.

In the first game against Christopher Newport, Chowan scored five points on the serves of Cindy Downs of Silver Spring, Md.; and three each on the serves of co-captain Jo Ann Light of Mechanicsville, Va. and Kim Claytor of Waynesboro. Chowan showed "good hustle and good team play," according to Mrs. Collins, to win the game.

In the second game, Chowan scored seven points on Ferebee's serves and four points on the serves of Nancy LaVerne Williams of Suffolk, Va.

Squad Evens Record With Wesleyan Win

Chowan College's women's volleyball team evened its record at 4-4 with a 15-10, 15-10 win over North Carolina Wesleyan, Oct. 7.

The win followed a loss the same evening to powerful Louisiana State, 15-3, 15-4.

Chowan used its spiking game to win the first game against Wesleyan. The Lady Braves missed only three spikes as a team. Nancy Lavern Williams of Suffolk, Va., and Jo Ann Light, co-captain from Mechanicsville, Va., aided the Braves' cause with their sets, according to Coach Janet Collins.

With the junior varsity playing the second game, Chowan missed only three serves as a team. They used the same formula of good sets and spikes while blocking two attempts by Wesleyan for points. "This was the best team effort the J.V. squad has shown this year," Mrs. Collins reported.

In other recent action, Chowan won its third match dropping Atlantic Christian College, 15-9, 15-6, Oct. 6.

In the first game, Chowan scored four points on Light's serves and two points each on the spikes of Kim Claytor of Waynesboro and Cindy Downs of Silver Spring, Md.

The Braves used the serve as their chief weapon in the second game. Chowan scored five points on Williams's serves, and four each on the serves of Mary Franklin of Madison Heights, Va., and Light.

Chowan lost matches Sept. 30 to Peace College, 3-15, 15-13, 3-15; and Oct. 6 to East Carolina University, 16-14, 15-9.

In winning the second game against Peace, Chowan turned in one of its finest performances of the season, Mrs. Collins noted.

Soccer Team Battles N.C. Wesleyan, 2-2

Chowan's soccer team battled to a 2-2 tie against North Carolina Wesleyan October 6.

This makes Chowan's record 1-3-1 while Wesleyan's is 2-4-1. Robert Levy of Richmond, VA., scored Chowan's first goal on a penalty kick in the first period. The Braves' other goal came in the second period on a kick by Jamie Edwards.

A possible game winning penalty goal was made by Chowan in the overtime period but was disallowed due to a penalty.

Head Coach Roy Winslow commented, "Hugh Dillon played a good game at fullback, as did Mike Bradley at goal and Patrick Fildes at wing."

Chowan's next match will be at home November 6 against Averett College of Danville, VA. The match will begin at 2 p.m. on the Chowan soccer field.

She said the Braves "played with confidence and a the players consistently converted from defense to offense and scored."

Chowan gave ECU real scare in the first game. The Braves played together as a team before finally bowing to the university squad Chowan scored five points off Downs' serves in the second game.

Chowan's junior varsity improved its record to 2-0 with a 15-3, 15-13 win over Peace, Sept. 30. Peggy McLemore of Richmond, Va., and Jean Bilski of Mechanicsville, Va., paced the Braves in sets with three for both games. Other players who contributed to the victory with either serves or spikes were Patty Woodland of Hampton, Va.; Terrie Anderson of Virginia Beach, Va.; Ginny Groo of Newark, Del.; and Gwenda Jones of Richmond, Va.

Chowan plays doubleheaders at Christopher Newport College Oct. 18 and Meredith College Oct. 20. The Braves' final home match will be a doubleheader against William and Mary Nov. 1.

Taxing Retirees

"... there is the general belief that the corporation income tax is a tax on the 'rich' and on the 'fat cats.' But with pension funds owning 30 per cent of American large business—and soon to own 50 per cent—the corporation income tax, in effect, eases the load on those in top income brackets and penalizes the beneficiaries of pension funds. In many cases it means an effective tax of almost 50 per cent on the retired worker, compared with the 15 per cent or less that he is supposed to pay. The corporation income tax has become the most regressive tax in our system and a tax on the wage earner and on wages. —Peter F. Drucker

PASSING TROUBLE — Bruce Bryant of Beltsville Md. tries to out stride Lees-McRae defensive back Greg Ferguson after pulling down pass. Chowan's passing game got into trouble as the game progressed.

A GREAT MOMENT — The first touchdown of the game a great moment for Dave Palumbo of Millington N.J. Unfortunately for Chowan after the first half they could not get across the goal line until the final second of the game.

LOOKS ON — Mike Posternock, Chowan quarterback from Wildwood Crest, N.J. looks on from the sideline as the Braves flounder in the final minutes of the game.
