music for Winston-Salem and Forsyth County Schools, who will teach oboe and bassoon; Harry Snell, teacher of percussion for Winston-Salem and Forsyth County Schools, who will teach percussion; Otis Strother, band instructor and instrumental teacher at Boone, who will teach upper brass and William Tritt, teacher of string students in Charlotte, who will teach violin and viola.

Most of these teachers are now playing with symphony orchestras in the state and have played with a number of orchestras outside the state. They will give private instruction in all string, wind and percussion instruments and will conduct intensive reading workshops in large and small ensembles.

The first session of the summer instrumental workshops at the School of the Arts will be June 23 through July 11. The second session will be from July 14 through August 1. Fee for each three-week period is $150, which includes tuition, private lessons, room, board, recreation, social and cultural activities.

Scholarships are available. The amount will depend on the students ability, instrument and financial need. Applications for enrollment and scholarships should be made to: The Summer Workshop, North Carolina School of the Arts, P. O. Box 4657, Winston-Salem, N.C. 27107.

It is planned now for student recitals to be held on Monday and Wednesday evenings. There will be movies at the school on Tuesday and Thursday evenings and informal parties on Friday evenings. Students will attend concerts at the Governor's School on Saturday evenings, and they will have picnic suppers and attend outdoor concerts by the Winston-Salem Symphony Orchestra on Sunday evenings at Graylyn Estate.

TO MRS. BROWN

*Time and memories make sacred love--
The time for you is now and you share it with us.
The memories only you can relate.
The sacred love is a combination of your heart and ours.*

*Kisses we place upon your cheek tell stories of your time given to warm a heart,
Each relating his own pleasant memoirs, held close
to his heart.
This Mrs. Brown is your sacred love.*

*A tear for a pain you knew and felt,
A silent prayer we knew was always there--
A kind word spoken each time we would part.
But Mrs. Brown, more than this you gave love!*

*A touch, a kiss, a smile -- we part.
Mrs. Brown God bless your sacred heart!*

STUDENTS BOYCOTT "WAGON WHEEL"

Several students at N.C.S.A. are boycotting The Wagon Wheel due to the rude and unlawful behavior of the Carmichaels (the owners).

Last week, Rhonda Scherich and I were going to The Wagon Wheel when Robert and Pernell (two of the little black boys) came running after us. We invited them for ice cream but had to wait 15 minutes for service. Mrs. Carmichael, then came over and refused to serve us because and Cynthia Darlow, the Hardcastles; Kathleen Masterson as their daughter and Gary Beach as Tony Lumpkin, showed skill at the game and Randall Rickman and Kurt Yaghjian complemented each other as the romantic lads. I regretted that Miss Ferraro ignored Ford's stage apron, for the style of the play is eminently suited to that thrust into the house.

Robert and Pernell, though young, understood what she meant and not wishing to hurt them anymore, we promptly left.

I, like other students, will not return there until this matter is cleared up. This, of course, is an individual choice but your cooperation would be appreciated.
