

the program was broadcast over station WPTF in Raleigh. The chief speakers at this time were Dr. Edson E. Blackman, president of the Alumni Association, who pledged the support of his organization to the school in its efforts to further equip its students for the battle of life and the Rev. Edgar H. Goold, president of our institution, whose remarks were directed to the listening audience as well as to the student body.

Following the broadcast, the acting Dean of our Alma Mater gave us a glimpse into the activities of our college officials who are industriously laboring to enlarge our educational facilities. Then too Mr. Francis Johnson, president of the Student Council, and Mr. Christopher Hunt, president of the Senior Class, both extended to St. Augustine's College the heartiest congratulations of the student body on its seventy-first birthday.

The Music Department too, not to be outdone, sang its praises of St. Augustine's College Under the direction of Professor Charles E. Berry, new head of the Music Department, the College Quartet, consisting of Messrs. Alpha Howze, David Harper, Jackson Wheeler, and Atwell Stewart, assisted by Mrs. Katherine Henderson, sang the College Hymn, the College Song, and the Blue and White. On this program also appeared a talented young couple who very beautifully rendered the collection, "Because You're You." Thus was celebrated St. Augustine's seventy-first birthday, by her present sons and daughters.

In keeping with tradition, excellent speakers are still being presented to the student body. Since the new year began we have had the pleasure of listening to Mr. H. L. Trigg of the Interracial Committee, Dr. Tross of the American Bible Society and Miss Gang of the Bishop Tuttle School. Mr. Trigg spoke on the activities of the Interracial Committee in this state. It was a very inspiring and militant address designed to stir the young people of our college to give their support to the activities of this organization.

Literary, intellectual, and sublime in its beauty, was the address of Dr. Tross. "We are living in a hazy, crazy, and lazy world," said this student of the Bible and of the ancient master thinkers and writers of ages now great in the annals of history. From this point onward, Dr. Tross held spellbound and enraptured his student audience, while, in words of sincerity and depth, he qualified his earlier statement as to the character of this world. His approach and solution to the problem was offered in terms of man's greatest literary work — the Bible. There can be little doubt as to the enthusiastic welcome of Dr. Tross by the students whose minds he transported into the highest realms of beauty and intellect as he portrayed to us his picture of the possible influence of the Bible, if only it were more widely read and lived up to.

Sunday, January 22nd. was Social Service Day at St. Augustine's in harmony with the tone of the day was the talk given by Miss Gang, social service instructor at the Tuttle School located on the College campus. She traced, in a most interesting fashion, the development of social service work from its earliest Christian beginning unto the present day. In growing and developing, this child has become too large for the large for the Church itself to handle, so that now, the state and other pri-
