

CHATTER

Hey? Pullen! Just to let you know that a certain young man is calling these days.

Quarterman seems to like the stories of Baby Raye.

"Braith," did Rickey ever tell you that she didn't care for men in uniform? But did you see her strolling off the campus between two recently?

Competition is a good thing; after all it gave Minnie the chance to show which way Fax would turn.

Have you heard Edith Mask sing the song, "I'm Pullen through"?

Get a bird's eye view of Gwen and Johnson every afternoon about 5:30; note how they bounce along in perfect rhythm.

Piper is evidently getting his revenge by showing "Vash" that he can "Chip" up somebody else, too.

Mary Gray is still singing, "I cry for you."

Becky is very much interested in the Marines, or should we say the Marine. It was good to see the ole Bob again, wasn't it?

"Joe Joe" issued her warning, "Hands off the Miller."

Lane is a smooth talker all right; just ask Cordelia.

Mason seems to be experimenting with the idea of being a glamour boy.

It seems as if St. Aug's Paul Robeson gave Doris her encore with orchids. When's your birthday, Chad?

Scotty, did Tish ask you to look after Ashby, or take him?

McKinney (observing Theodore staring sadly at an empty plate in front of him): What's the matter T. J., are you in love?

Theodore: Heck no. I've just run out of food.

It seems as if the basketball manager, Holsey by name, is quite a man about the campus. Is it Miss Edwards, Hopkins, Scott, or Clark?

Johnny M., how is your "daughter" getting along?

It looks as if Helen Gill is strictly for Beckles.

We wonder when Billy Young is going to make up her mind. Is it Shirley Williams, John Anderson, or the old one, Wayland Horton?

It seems as if R. Sands likes tall men. Carrie and Bernetta want to know if you are Hinton at Bill.

Mr. Piper, what does the city chick think of Vashti and Chippey, or does she know?

Gloria, are you trying to make up Joe's mind, or is Miss Dupree doing it for you?

Scotty, what are you going to do with the "Boys" when Curtis comes marching home?

 Conduct

Grant graciously what you cannot refuse safely.
