

ST. AUGUSTINE'S TO INAUGURATE ROBINSON AS EIGHTH PRESIDENT

Dr. J. T. Caldwell Challenges Students Claim Your Heritage

Dr. John T. Caldwell, chancellor of N. C. State University, challenged students at Saint Augustine's College here Tuesday to "claim your heritage."

Speaking at opening exercises for the college's 101st year, Dr. Caldwell acknowledged that in addition to the burden that every man carries, Negroes must cope with the erroneous but persistent notion of "white supremacy."

"You don't need a crutch to clear your heritage," he told the students. "Your heritage belongs to you."

If the Negro discovers and knows his abilities, he said, "you will see the walls come down, your learning will be easier, your aspirations assured, and there will be a place in society for you."

Caldwell admitted that Negroes are prone to view with suspicion advice given by well meaning whites. Negroes, he said, are suspicious of the white man's motives when any spiritual appeal is suggested. Such an appeal, he observed, must be one to patience and gradualism.

However, he reminded the students that Saint Augustine's was founded upon Christian faith.

"Begin with your own conscience as a Christian," he declared, "to make sure claim upon yourself, and everything else that you do will be a success."

Caldwell was introduced by Joseph B. Cheshire Jr., vice chairman of the Saint Augustine's board of trustees. The students were greeted formally by the college's president, Dr. P. R. Robinson, Purdie Anders, executive secretary, National Alumni Association, and Eugene Thomas, president of the student council.

Y. E. S.

BY PAM BRITO

North Carolina has a state wide Organization called the Youth Education Service. The purpose is to organize a tutorial program for young children that are either under privileged or slow learners. We believe that since a teacher has a limited time to spend with each child, that some will be deprived of a little extra understanding of a certain subject. It is made to help make education a little easier and more or less fun.

At the present, we have just organized a Youth Service Organization on our campus. In my opinion Y. E. S. will be strong and successful. We will be working primarily with Washington Terrace students, so far we have forty tutors and over thirty tutorees. Cynthia Goza, director of the city branch on her hard work getting Y.E.S. on St. Aug's campus.

Our officers are: Coordinator-Pam Brito; Co-coordinators-Robert Monroe, Sharon Hemphill; Secretary-Earlene Bethel; Assistant-Pat Cottingham; Workshop Committee-Claudette Cogbill, Robert Taylor and Rob Williams.

There is always room for more tutors. Also, we would appreciate support from our faculty.

I am counting on as much help as possible; I can't work this alone. I believe everyone could spend at least two hours every week to help tutor a little child.

Drama Guild

BY LILLIAN BURRUS

The first official meeting of the Dramatics Club was held October 11, at 7:00 p.m. in Taylor Hall. The purpose of this meeting was to elect officers and to have a general discussion of the projects to be carried out during the year. The officers were elected as follows: President-Earlene Bethel, Vice President-Danny Scarborough, Secretary-Ruby Demesme, Assistant Secretary Jocelyn Baham, Treasurer-Clejetter Holt, Parliamentarian, Eddie Eubanks, Reporter, Lillian Burrus, and Mr. Jenkins is the advisor.

During the school year, it is our hope that we will be able to present two plays. The first one is "Under the Yum Yum Tree," which will be presented during the first semester. Our next play will be "Another Part of the Forest" and will be presented the second semester. The date for try-outs for parts in these plays will be posted soon.

Computer To Be Installed

BY LILLIAN BURRUS

A Terminal will be installed at Saint Augustine's College early in December. However, in November, Bessie Ross, a representative of the North Carolina Computer Orientation Project, will be on campus to conduct a series of lectures in order to orientate the leadership group of the Terminal. The purpose of this Terminal will be primarily to familiarize students with a particular type of computer and also to afford a means by which he can gain experience in solving problems and programming materials.

The Terminal will be located in the annex to the science building. It will be available for use by students, faculty members, and personnel of the college. This computer can be used for programming and solving problems in business, humanities, science or mathematics.

This project should prove to be a most rewarding and enlightening one to everyone concerned with it. Please be sure to watch for information on the date the lectures will be given on the Terminal and also the date the Terminal will be opened for use by the college.

If you desire further information on this project, you may contact Mrs. R. B. Weatherford, Head of the Mathematics Department, Saint Augustine's College, or you may write to: Louis T. Parker Jr., Director, N. C. Computer Orientation Project, Box 12175, Research Triangle Park, North Carolina 27709.

McNamara Calls On Dr. Robinson

DR. P. R. ROBINSON

Attends Conference

Dr. Prezell R. Robinson, President, Saint Augustine's College has been invited by Secretary McNamara to participate in Joint Civilian Orientation Conference #37, to be held at the San Francisco Hilton Hotel October 12 through October 19.

The Joint Civilian Orientation Conference is an effort by the Secretary of Defense to show the American people how the Department of Defense is operated. It is his purpose to acquaint the public with the problems and accomplishments of this department of government.

The JCO objectives are to inform, and to broaden the base of public understanding of the total U. S. defense posture. Each year, a group of approximately 75 business, industrial and professional men are invited to visit representative military installations. These gentlemen are selected from all geographical areas of the country, and from a broad spectrum of occupations.

In addition to the detailed program, activities to be visited will include the following: Department of Defense Briefings, San Francisco, California; North American Air Defense Command, Colorado Springs, Colorado; Strategic Air Command, Offutt Air Force Base, Nebraska; U. S. Marine Corps, Camp Lejeune, North Carolina; Strike Command, Fort Bragg and Pope Air Force Base, N. C.; Department of Defense, The Pentagon, Washington, D. C.

JANICE MAULTSBY

She Walks In Beauty

BY RUBY DEMESME

Miss Janice Marie Maultsby, Miss St. Augustine's College, is a native of Lumberton, North Carolina. She is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Maultsby Sr. Being the only daughter, Miss Maultsby is the center of attention in this family which includes two sons. She is a member of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc., the English Club, Dramatics Club, and the annual staff.

Miss St. Augustine's has already made plans for the future. She will further her studies in the field of reading research at Howard University. Miss Maultsby has this to say about her future plans, "Rather than teach in the public schools, I feel that my assistance is most needed with students who have speech impediments. In the near future, I will begin to work with Miss Harper in the Reading Laboratories that I may learn as much as possible about speech and reading."

WALTER POTTER

Profiles: Winner Of Five Major Awards

Walter Potter, a freshman from Charleston, S. C., is the winner of five major art awards. Not only is Potter a skilled artist, but he is also a musician. His favorite instrument is the guitar and he has played for three dynamic bands.

When asked about his views on St. Augustine's College, Potter replied, "I enjoy St. Aug. It is highly represented by students from Charleston. This, I feel at home here."

Walter, who plans to become a commercial artist, was recently signed as personal guitarist for Gwen Franklin (Cut-chins). "I hope that Gwen and I will be allowed to give a live show and dance together for one of the Saturday night socials," said Potter.

Walter, whose other interests are hunting and racing, plans to participate in future art exhibits both on campus and in the city.

Walter's final remarks of his first few weeks at St. Augustine's College are as follows: "It's great to be a Falcon."

AUDREY KELLY

Miss Senior: Audrey Kelly

BY RUBY DEMESME

The Senior class is really fortunate to have selected Miss Audrey Yvonne Kelly for their class queen. She is indeed a lady of charm, poise, grace and intellectual wit.

Miss Kelly is a native of Newport News, Virginia. She is known around the campus by her beautiful smile and her friendly disposition. She is a member of the Dramatics Club, NEA, Band and PEN staff.

When asked how she reacted to her role as Miss Senior, Miss Kelly said, "I truly feel that it is an honor and a privilege to have been elected to this office. I can never find words to express my gratitude to my classmates for the faith they have in me. I shall endeavor to devote my time to my office in order to please those whom I serve."

Notice To All Seniors

Seniors who are interested in employment with various agencies of the Federal Government should make application to take the Federal Service Entrance Examinations. The second in a series of nine examinations will be given on November 18, 1967 here at the local Post Office. Your application must be filed on or before the second Wednesday of October 1967 to be eligible for the November test.

Every senior should make application for these examinations, and it should be done early during the school year.

Growth Of The College

BY RICHARD McCLOUD

Is St. Augustine's College growing? Yes. As we all know St. Aug. was founded over a hundred years ago. We are very proud of our school and to know that we are a part of the big family.

Did you know that when St. Aug. was founded by the Freedmen's Commission of the Protestant Episcopal Church there were only four students registered on the first day of operation? Stop and think about it sometime. It is like thinking about this discovery of America and the ways in which America has grown. St. Aug. has grown in many ways. Take a look at the Dining Hall, the Science Building, the Emery Building, and the many other plans that are on the way.

What makes a College grow? The answer lies with the President, the Board of Trustees, the faculty, the administration and the students. When a student can observe the growth of his institution it makes him study harder, adjust to the new environment and most of all makes him feel that his school is growing just as others around him.

All this contributes to the fact that as the world changes so much, we, as a part of this world, must change along with it. As for St. Aug., it has changed for the better. We have greater future plans ahead with all the modern facilities to make a school grow and become at the top for better recognition. Don't you feel superb to be a part of this institution? In the growth of an institution, one should always remember: "To arrive at your goals one asset is patience. Patience is bitter but its fruit is sweet."

Jean T. Rouseau.

Lectureships

Students and faculty at St. Augustine's College here can enjoy lectures by outstanding professors from universities and colleges across the nation through a recently installed telelecture system.

"Telelecture," explained Dr. Norman H. Dawes, administrative aid at St. Augustine's, "involves transmission of the voice and of pictures. A professor can speak to our campus by telephone from his home, office, or classroom. He can inscribe on an Electrowriter charts, graphs, or other images, which will be transmitted to a screen here."
