Falcons Rip Eagles

By Leondras Ross

Behind the magic hands of Gary Taylor, St. Augustine's College won a 96-84 victory over North Carolina Central University. The Falcons had five players in double figures, Gary Taylor led with 22 points while John Bailey had 21 points and 12 rebounds. Warren Brown added 17 points, Reginald McFarland 14 points, and Donald Carroll 12 points.

NC Central's Don Sinclair led all scores with 29 points, in the second half. John Bishop added 26 points.

Though the Falcons played without All-American Anthony Boggan, who was injured in a game against Fayetteville State, this in no way affected the Falcon's style of play. They were to run and work the ball around for the better shots. This they (Falcons) did accomplish, leading by a score of 53-34 at half time.

The Falcon's biggest lead of 22 points came after a basket by Warren Brown with 15:30 left on the clock. The Falcons held this lead until the Eagles went into a zone press at 7:41 left to play, enabling the Eagles to make two back to back steals and scoring both baskets decreasing the margin to 86-72.

The Eagles now had the momentum for a final comeback surge, but that was ended on a fastbreak stuff by Warren at 4:10 which made the score 90-72. However, the Eagles did manage to come within 12 points 96-84. But not enough to overcome the Falcons. The Falcons are now 6-3 in the CIAA conference, and 9-5 overall.

St. Aug (96) -- Taylor 22, Brown 17, McFarland 14, Bailey 21, Carroll 12, Smith 4, Clemons 2, Johnson 4.
NCCU (84) -- Sinclair 29, Bishop 26, Griffin 6, Murphy 11, Binion 4, Evans 6, Oakley 2.

Falcons Clip Johnson C Smith

Led by the superb shooting of senior forward Warren Brown, St. Augustine's came from behind to defeat the Golden Bulls 84-80. Brown scored a total of 23 points and grasped 14 rebounds. Donald Carroll followed with 20 points and Gary Taylor 16. James George had 20 along with Phillip Flores 18 to pace the losers.

The Golden Bulls were controlling the board during the first half with a harmonious tempo. At 7:38 in the first half, Gary Taylor made a steal and pass to Brown who stuffed the ball for the score. Johnson C. Smith led at that point, 26-23. The scoring was well balanced at this point.

At half time Johnson C. Smith led 46-38, their biggest lead. Both teams came back on the court pepped up. Having only played 2:27 seconds in the second half, the Falcons managed to tie the score. The score was then tied until 11:49 when the Falcons' Warren Brown scored on a jump shot to put the Falcons up 63-60.

The next two minutes were an exchange of baskets until a timeout was called by the Falcons, leading 69-64 at 7:38. At 3:37 James George missed two freethrows that perhaps would have put the Golden Bulls up for good. However, Johnson C. Smith was at stake when Brown hit two freethrows in the final seconds.

The Falcons are now 7-3 in the ICIAA conference and 10-5 overall, while Johnson C. Smith fell 8-2 in the conference and 11-3 overall.

St. Aug (84) -- W. Brown 23, D. Carroll 20, G. Taylor 16, J. Bailey 14, R. McFarland 9, D. Smith 2.

Colbert and Walsh Team at Tennis Match

By Vincia Bunch

On Saturday December 5, Royal Colbert, a junior at the "Aug" and Tim Walsh, a North Carolina State student teamed up as tennis partners at the Millbrook court. The two man team had not played tennis for over two months.

The team lost the first set of the game. However, in the second set the team of Colbert and Walsh functioned well. They came back to take the second set from the two opposing team players. Six to four; this did give the team some competitiveness.

After the two opposing pros were downed in the second set they rallied to come back and win the third and final set.

Due to a lack of practice Colbert and Walsh were good sore losers. However, their goal is to win the next time around!

Sophomores.
