

RONNIE RAGSDALE AND LIBBY WALLACE act as host and hostess at the reception held Tuesday night.

WELCOME—Dr. Jack W. Moore, Dean, welcomes new students at the first assembly Wednesday.

OH, HOW THOSE PLACEMENT TESTS HURT!

THE LUAU, and David Reeves referees a wrestling match.

New Term

As the dormitory doors opened Tuesday, September 10, the excitement of Freshman Orientation began.

In the evening, a reception sponsored by the Student Government Association was given for all new students in the lounges of Nash Hall. A brief welcome was given by the chairman of the Student Orientation Committee, Dennis Stockdale, and the Director of Student Life, Dr. Allen Cordts.

The following day was one of welcoming addresses, the official beginning of orientation and placements tests. The master of ceremonies was the Director of Admissions, Ronald Sherron, while welcoming addresses were made by President Collins and John Hines, president of the student Government Association.

Following the placement tests, a reception was given by the Rocky Mount Junior Guild. A picnic dinner was served behind the Student Union for all resident students.

On Thursday, Sept 12, the highlight of Orientation began with an "aloha" as the new students were presented with a Hawaiian Luau.

TOUR—New students learn their way about Rocky Mount through a tour sponsored by the orientation committee.