Wesleyan Will Receive Fountain As Gift

Work To Begin On Project As Soon As Weather Permits

A beautiful fountain will decorate the front of the campus as a gift from Mr. Frank E. Brown, according to an announcement made by President Thomas A. Collins. The plans have been approved, mechanical equipment ordered, and construction will begin as soon as good weather makes it practical.

This ornament on the campus represents a continuing interest on the part of Wesleyan's close friend and benefactor. Last year the College Entrance and Serpentine Wall were dedicated at the Founders' Day Convocation, the other major gift from Mr. Brown, a native of Edgecombe County.

The fountain will be 40 feet in diameter with a brick and marble curb surrounding the basin. A six-foot brick wall will surround the fountain which should become a favorite meeting place on campus. From the center of the basin, a column of water will rise 40 feet into the air, and from the side, eight columns of water will rise toward the center column. Each of these will be lighted so that the color discs may be changed seasonally, or according to the decorating theme of a particular event in the college life.

The fountain will be located just within the inner circle of the campus, at the end of the divided entry way, and adjacent to Tyler Drive. As guests pass the campus, or enter from Highway 301, the fountain will be immediately ahead of them and in front of the Braswell Administration Building.

The fountain was designed by Luther Lashmit, of Winston-Salem, North Carolina, and was suggested by a fountain at Santa Anita in Arcadia, California. This will complete the approach to the campus according to an earlier design for beautification of the new campus.

Frank E. Brown, retired president of the Manchester Paper Products Company of Richmond, Va., has demonstrated his continuing interest in the growth and development of the college from its inception. His contributions to the building program and the academic program of the college exceed any other gift he has given. He has proven himself to be a friend of the students on the occasion of several visits to the campus.

Plans are under study to dedicate this new facility during Senior Week as the pioneer Senior Class plans for graduation, Sunday, May 31, 1964.

Library Given Book Grants

The Carolina Wesleyan College Library has recently been the recipient of more than $5,500 for the purchase of new books for this growing library collection, according to an announcement from Librarian Walter Gray.

An anonymous friend gave a check for $5,000, and among other gifts Miss Vivian Braswell gave the sum of $500 for new book acquisitions. This sum of $5,500 was apportioned by the library committee of (Continued on page 4)
