Wesleyan Presents "Chamber Singers"

The Wesleyan Chamber Singers, a newly formed Madrigal group on campus, under the direction of Dr. William Sasser is another Wesleyan first.

According to Dr. Sasser, nine students were hand-picked, five of which are voice majors. Because of the group's smallness, each student must be able to sing equally well alone or with the group. The Sopranos are Barbara Crawford, Reggie McKinney, and Margaret Poole. Altos are Marilyn Shepherd and Diane Wood. Doug Groseclose and Ted Turner are the tenors while Rick Houck and Vernon Ball are to sing bass.

The group is singing selections from the Renaissance, Madrigals, and Chansons without accompaniment as well as modern folk songs by Brahms and Von Williams.

The Wesleyan Chamber Singers will perform for the school on March 15 in Assembly. The only other scheduled program will be for the meeting of American Association of Teachers of French to be held on campus, April 30.
