Senate News

Various charges against the judicial procedure and problems within the judicial organization have prompted attempts to reform the SLA structure at Wesleyan. At the May 9 meeting of the senate, Fritz Smith, chairman of this year's judicial triumvirate discussed some changes which he felt were needed in the judicial system.

The primary point that he made was that, in his opinion, the number of members of the judicial board was too small. He suggested enlarging the structure to 7 members with possibly two of these from the faculty. To support this change he mentioned that with only three members in the board that they target for pressure from the students, the administration, and the faculty. With an increase in size of the group, and with the inclusion of two faculty members this pressure should be lessened, he contended. Furthermore, this change would lessen the chance of personal opinion entering the decision making.

The consensus of the senate appeared to be that an enlargement of the judicial group was needed. However, there was some question as to the idea of adding faculty members. Katrina Kobylarz stated that it would be difficult for a faculty member to keep his classroom relationship with a student separate from a judicial decision. She pointed out that it would be very bad for a student to know that a faculty member had found a student guilty of an offense and then have to have an academic course under that teacher.

In view of this fact the senate opinion seemed to be that the judicial board should be enlarged but that all the new members would have to come from the student body.

Another suggestion was made to have the Student Life and Service Committee serve as an appeal board from the Judicial Board. At present, the Student Life and Service group reviews any case in which a student is suspended or expelled from school. The suggested change would give a student, found guilty of any offense in which the Judicial Board had original jurisdiction, would have the right to appeal the decision to the Student Life and Services Committee.

No final senate action was made on any of these proposals at the May 9 meeting. At the May 16 meeting a written list of the proposals were voted upon. If passed they will be voted on by the student body next fall as is necessary when any change is made in the Constitution.

Vespers To Count As Credit For Chapel Cut

The Faculty and Administration recently passed an amendment which states that a student of N. C. Wesleyan College may attend the Vesper Service, Sunday evenings sponsored by the Inter-Faith Commission and the college Chaplain and receive credit for regular Chapel attendance held each Thursday morning.

The student is then free to elect the service which he shall attend on either the preceding or following Sunday of the missed Chapel Service.

In addition, no academic sanctions will be placed on the student who takes an excessive number of Chapel cuts although sanctions will be established at a later faculty meeting.

The student is still allowed two unexcused Chapel absences as has been the policy in the past.

Dr. Thomas A. Collins, President of the College and Chairman of the Chapel Committee, announced that the amended Chapel Policy will go into effect in the fall semester 1966-67.

As of this time, no definite action has been taken concerning assembly absences.
