sands of Americans watched the unofficial advisors to the Selective Service draw the 366 blue plastic capsules, each containing a date of the year.

Following a brief invocation by Hershey, the advisors began drawing the capsules which would assign an order of draft priority to each American male between the ages of 19 and 26.

Any person becoming 19 before December 31, 1969 was eligible as well as a person who would reach the age of 26 prior to December 31, 1969. Although all draft-aged men received a number, only those classifications 1-A or 1-A-0 will be drafted in 1970.

Wesleyan Homecoming Successful Bed-Race Becomes Annual Event

Wesleyan's annual Homecoming weekend followed all of the popular ideas of a traditional "good time" reunion with alumni, bonfire, a thoughtprovoking movie, a victorious game and a Homecoming Dance surrounded by and accentuated with cool crips weather and a spirit of brotherhood. An additional attraction to the treats was the first annual bedrace - an idea to increase the spirit of Homecomings.

A bonfire was held Friday evening in the field by the cheerleaders, who lead the approximately 50 people in cheers. The spirit and enthusiasm of the people was high, although a very small group was as early as 12:00, with the different people entered making trial runs and adding last minute touches to their chariots.

The six teams were lined up behind a rope tied between two trees behind Edgecomb dorm and had the choice to jump over or run under the rope to get to their cars, and race the length of the driveway around campus.

Nu Gamma Phi came in first at 4 minutes and 31 seconds, second floor South came in second at 4 minutes and 44 seconds, Alpha Delta Chi came in third at 4 minutes and 50 seconds. Second floor Edgecomb came in fourth at 5 minutes and one second, first floor South and North (Trinity Racing Team) came in fifth at 5 minutes and 33 seconds, and third floor Edgecomb was disqualified because it had only two wheels, which was in contradiction to the rules.

At 2:00 the basketball game started in the gym, with the Wesleyan Bishops playing the UNCG at Greensboro. Wesleyan got the ball first and, despite plenty of turnovers, Roger Taylor managed to score the first 9 points in the game. Throughout the first half of the game, Wesleyan had a 4 to 15 point lead, finishing the half with a lead of 7, with the score 36 to 29.

Both teams had foul difficulty throughout the game, with the first half resulting in two members of each team having 3 fouls each. Wesleyan got the ball at the beginning of the second half, but Greensboroscored the first two points on a 15footer, which was followed by a 15-footer shot by Roger Taylor, bringing the score to 38 to 31.

With 15 minutes left to play Greensboro pulled within one point of Wesleyan then tied the game 46-46. Jerome Brown, who had up to this point scored 14 points for Wesleyan, fouled out with 12 minutes left to play, but the shooting of Roger Taylor pulled Wesleyan 7 points away from Greensboro, which brought the score to 53-46 with Controversy over the massecure of the South Vietnamise inhabitants in the village of Long My in March 1968 by U.S. troops continues to lead the news. A sergeant who refused to take part in the action called it "point-blank murder." The question upon whom the responsibility lies brings forth another and more basic question. How deeply has the continued casualty reports affected American society so as to be seemingly immune to such atrocities as this are committed by our own troops?

According to the latest Harris Pole, the American people, by a 42 to 46 percent margin Vice President Spiro Agnew a negative mark concerning his activity as Vice President.
