Aspects Announces Creative Art Contest

The staff of Aspects, Wesleyan's magazine of the arts, is pleased to announce that Aspects is sponsoring a Creative Arts Contest. The contest is open to all students and faculty of Wesleyan and the Rocky Mount community. Entries will be judged in three categories: art (etchings, drawings, and photography), poetry, and poise. Entries in either the poetry or poise division must be typed.

$150 was made available for prize money through a grant by the North Carolina Arts Council. The poise division and the art division will have a first prize of $25 and a second prize of $15. The Poetry division will also have a $25 first and a $15 second prize. However, because of the volume of quality poetry submitted in the past, there will also be three $10 honorable mention prizes awarded.

The Aspects staff, which welcomes anyone who is interested in working this year, is now receiving entries to the contest. All entries must be in the Aspects office or mailed to Aspects, Wesleyan College, Rocky Mount, North Carolina by November 15 to be eligible for competition.

All material will be judged by the faculty of Wesleyan's English department. Winners will be announced and prize money awarded during the first week in December.

This year there will be one expanded issue of Aspects released in early March. This issue will include all the contest winners as well as the other material that is chosen. The staff sincerely hopes that all those interested will submit his or her work and help to make this the most representative and best Aspects ever.
