

This You Read

Now for what's happening. This last weekend was parent's weekend. This year it had to be the strangest weekend I've ever seen. I just couldn't believe the amount of parents that came here. It's no small wonder that when the parents are here things always seem to get better, at least it isn't to me. Well this year things didn't go over with the parents so smoothly, at least not like it has in the past. It looks like this year's crop of parents were looking for some answers to some pretty heavy questions. The paramount issue was that of the food at this place. Some or maybe I should say most the parents were unhappy with the food. Which brings me to a little story.

That weekend I met one of my fraternity brother's parents, this man was Mr. Elbert Wampler (Big El Lillte 1). Mr. Wampler is Chairman of the Parents' Fund organization. The function of this organization is to raise money and donate it to the school. Well to make a long story short I met Big L at a party we began to talk and one of the things we talked about was the food. Big L told me that quite a few of the parents had aired their grievances in the company of the top administration officials. He also told me that things would get better shortly. I took this to be another typical put-off from an elder person, and was really bummed out. Well I owe Mr. Wampler an apology because things have gotten better. This isn't the result of efforts on Mr. Wampler's part only. It is the product of several people believe it or not. Mary Anne Brinser, and Dean of Students also Championed the students cause in the field of better food. Well Coach I've just got to tell you how good that it feels to have a Dean who really cares about his students. I'll tell you things are looking up here every day. Now we're even allowed to get seconds at a meal. That way if the food is no good at least we'll be able to eat more of it. I have to admit though on the whole that parents' weekend had some great effects.

The Moral of this story is "If someone ever does something that isn't beneficent to your well being, Mom's gonna get her broom out of the closet and beat some ---"

Guess I've used enough space this time. Try to help me with social commission, thanks to everybody's parents, and last but not least I've got a joke. Do you think you can handle it?

QUESTION: HOW DO YOU KEEP A POLOCK IN SUSPENSE?
ANSWER:

He wants to know when open house starts.

Get Involved!!!

The Decree

OFFICIAL STUDENT NEWSPAPER OF
NORTH CAROLINA WESLEYAN COLLEGE

ASSOCIATE EDITOR Susan Kelly
ASSISTANT EDITOR Anna Galfano
FEATURE EDITOR Kevin Kilroy
ADVERTISING MGR Karla Hampton
CIRCULATION MGR Wanda Midgett
Typist Nona Cook
Photographer Mosby West
Sports Writers Willie Pridgen,
Kevin Kilroy
Office Assistant Sterling Bodenhamer
Staff Consultant Mr. Charles Rogers
Faculty Advisor Mr. Bruce VanBlarcom

Business Address: Box 358, Wesleyan College
Rocky Mount, North Carolina 27801

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY WESLEYAN STUDENTS
Opinions Published Do Not Necessarily Represent
Those Of Wesleyan College

A Warning

As illustrated in the picture left it is possible for weird creatures to visit us on campus. It's not too funny when it's for real. Friday, Nov. 1 it was for real: three girls from North Dorm and four from Nash reported incidents of indecent exposure. Each time the man halted his car (a white Chevrolet, Biscayne) beside a female student and inquired the time; could be a normal request except that the second time he asked was ten minutes after the first time. When the girl moved closer to give him the time, she ws shocked and sacred. It's hard to tell a pervert from a distance.

I don't know what can be done to prevent such people from entering the campus, so all I can do is to extend this warning to all the female students. I told some of the male students about it, their response: "I wish we could find a perverted woman riding around this campus!" So I guess I won't bother warning the rest of the male students. But maybe some of the security boys will read this and think up a defense for the girls. More likely though they'll devise an offense, that is a scheme to catch a lascivious woman.

Abortion Counseling

Call Collect:
215-735-8100
Open 7 Days
A Week

A Non-Profit Organization

Parents' Weekend

Parents' Weekend, sponsored annually by N. C. Wesleyan College students to honor and entertain their parents and relatives, was held on campus Friday, Oct. 25 through Sunday, Oct. 27.

Following the Founders' Day 11 a.m. Convocation on Friday, parents had lunch in the College Cafeteria and the afternoon was spent in informal campus tours. Friday night at 8:15, the Music Department's annual Pops Concert was presented in Everett Gymnasium. The concert featured the Wesleyan Singers, under the direction of Noel Lovelace, the Wesleyan Band, conducted by Arthur McCoy, and the Chamber Singers, directed by Dr. John S. Davis.

Official registration was held Saturday, October 26, from 9:30 a.m. until 12 noon at the home of President and Mrs. Thomas A. Collins.

A bicycle race around the campus drive was set for 11 a.m., featuring several riding classes for both women and men. A buffet luncheon in the Cafeteria was served from 12 noon until 1:30 p.m., and simultaneously from noon until 2 p.m. all residence halls, fraternity and sorority lounges held open house.

Three hour-long seminars in Braswell Administration Building were set for 2 p.m. featuring faculty speakers. On the separate programs were Mrs. Jean Edge, whose topic was "Women's Athletics," Corbitt B. Rushing, who spoke on "Politics Today," and Edward L. Hester, who discussed "Inflation."

Also at 2 p.m. the Battling Bishops played a soccer game with Christopher Newport on the athletic field on campus. Beginning at 4:30 p.m. a reception in the Wesleyan Library offered parents and the Wesleyan faculty an opportunity to meet for informal discussion.

Parents and college personnel gathered for a 6 p.m. banquet to formally organize a Parents' Association, prior to the 8:15 p.m. performance of the Claude Kipnis Mime Theatre in Everett Gymnasium.

On Sunday morning a family worship service was planned followed by lunch, which concluded Parents' Weekend festivities.

Also for Parents' Weekend, the N. C. Wesleyan College Music Department presented its annual Pops Concert Friday, Oct. 25, at 8:15 p.m. in Everett Gymnasium. There was no admission charge and the public was cordially invited.

Four performing groups appeared on the program, the Wesleyan Singers, the Concert Band, the Rock-Jazz Band and the Chamber Singers. Conductors were Wesleyan faculty members Noel Lovelace, the Singers; Arthur McCoy, the bands; and Dr. John S. Davis, the Chamber Singers. Piano accompanist for the Singers was Sharon Lockwood, a junior from Hampton, Va.

The largest choral group, the Wesleyan Singers, presented "Bless the Beasts and Children," "Autumn Leaves," "Yesterday" and "I Believe in Music." Thirty voices, both men and women, sang with the college's choral group.

Included in the Rock-Jazz portion of the program were several selected numbers, and the Concert Band featured marches and popular show tunes. A composition by Dr. Davis, "Reverie," was played by the Concert Band, as well as highlights from "The Music Man." Sharon Lockwood conducted one of the march selections, and William Dawson, a sophomore from Lovington, Va., appeared in "Reverie" as soloist with his baritone horn.

The small group of selected voices, the Chamber Singers, which sings without accompaniment performed "I Can See Clearly Now," with Leila Riddle a freshman from Sanford, and Brian Kilroy, a freshman from North East, Md., handling the solo parts. Included in the Chamber performance was "Shadrack" and "If We Only Have Love."

New Post Office Workers

May I take a moment of your time to explain to you why you may be experiencing some difficulties in your mail service on campus.

This year we have three very willing students who have not worked in the Post Office before: Pat Cook, a junior, Robert Askew and Bruce Wright, both sophomores. They have had to learn all the duties of the Post Office since the Fall term began.

Besides having to learn the names of all the faculty, staff and students on campus, they must be able to trace and forward mail to those persons who are no longer with Wesleyan College.

Their duties each day include selling stamps, envelopes, money orders, weighing and shipping packages, and doing a daily report with a bank deposit. Each piece of mail received in the morning and dispatched each evening must be counted and recorded. We average 750 pieces daily. Postage due mail is handled as first class separately. They must learn to certify, register, and insure mail all of which is handled with different charges and require receipts and return receipts.

Quite a bit of paper work is required to handle C.O.D. mail and customs charges which we receive at regular intervals. All mail for overseas must be weighed and postage is charged according to weight and destination.

There is so much to learn—and bear in mind these students are enrolled full time and must attend classes and do "home-work."

Please do give them a fair chance to learn everything — it will take time. They will try to do a good job but they will need to have your patient and understanding.

Thank you,
Mrs. Sloane

Coming Soon!
Special Soccer
Issue