

Makeup artist explains some special effects

By KIMBERLY CURSEEN

This year's North Carolina Wesleyan's Symposium, sponsored by the Art and Music Department, featured a program with "Horror Maestro" Tom Savini.

Savini, an expert special effects and makeup artist, answered questions about his art, and the many movies he has acted, directed, and created special effects for. Some of the movies he has acted in and created special effects for are: Night Riders; Friday 13th (II, IV), Creep Show, and The Manic.

Savini showed a narrated documentary showing how some of his special effects, stunts, and costumes are created. The film showed how Savini tries to make all of his effects as realistic as possible.

His motto is "... the real thing is always best." For instance in one of his movies intestines were seen being eaten by zombies; in actuality they were pig intestines and guts, instead of plastic replicas.

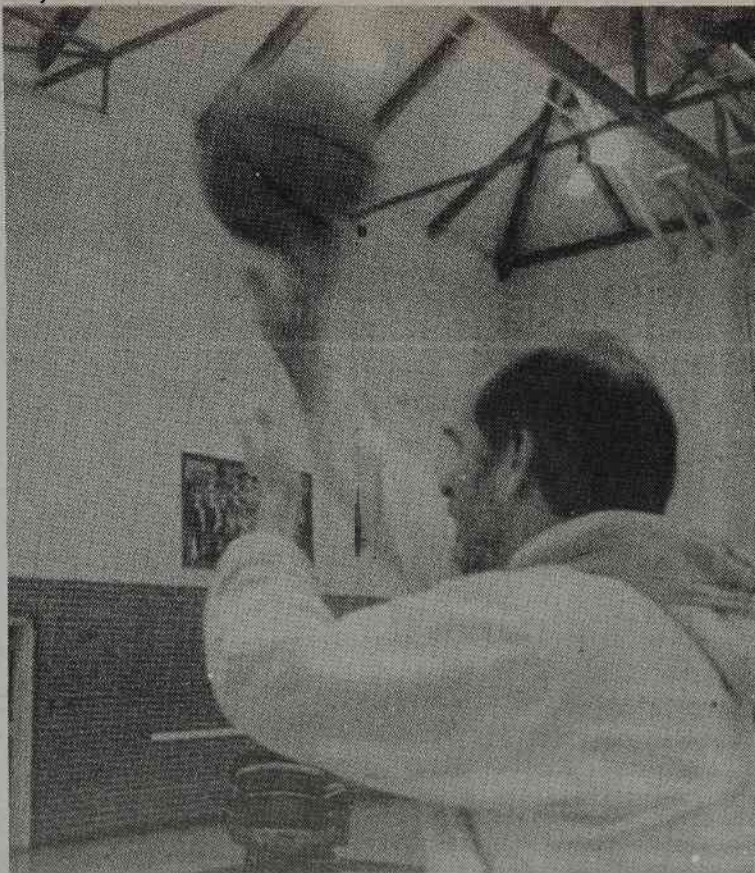

Savini gave Wesleyan students a treat when he allowed three students to shoot professor Dr. Todd Burke.

Using a special effect it appeared that students had actually shot Dr. Burke. In reality Savini attached a special device that would explode red dye when he set it off. This is a common effect that is used in movies. Savini explained that this procedure does pose some risk to the actor because it is possible that the device may explode inward instead of outward, burning the actor.

When asked about the presentation, junior, Dawn Koslakowski said, "It was great. Dr. Burke's expression was hysterical."

Savini, in the documentary, related to the audience that his mentor was silent movie actor and makeup artist Lon Chaney. After seeing one of Chaney's movies as a child, Savini said his life changed, and his love for art and movie makeup and special effects were born.

"I went from hanging out on the corner to hanging out in my room," he said. "I was amazed how he (Lon Chaney) could alter his appearance and, could be different people with makeup." He even named his first son Lon after his idol.

TAKING HIS BEST SHOTS — Dr. David Jones shoots baskets for the Special Olympics. Jones hit 84 out of 100 free throws.

Article to appear

(Continued from Front Page)

authors of the articles in the Journal of American College Health are usually holders of Doctorate and Masters degrees.

The article is titled "R.N. Directed Student Health Service, Protocols and Standing Order." The article originated in college when Nurse Stump wrote it in a research class. The information explained in the article includes "Single Practice Nursing," which includes many Protocols and Standing Orders.

These Protocols are guidelines and rules that a nurse must keep when caring for the college community.

Nurse Stump said most people think that college nursing is easy. Stump said that is not true, and that there are many difficult rules and regulations that must be followed in order to succeed. Stump also said that small schools often hire nurses rather than doctors because of money. This means that much more stress and responsibility is put on the nurse to perform his/her job. Nurse Stump hopes this article can "help nurses try to do it right."

The process that Stump had to go through to get published was quite difficult. The article had to go through many review boards, which critiqued the article. These committees were seated in Alabama and Washington D.C., and they decide if an article can pass. Nurse Stump said she "was very lucky" to get the article published.

She had to do three revisions of her original draft, and said that without the support of her friends and colleagues she would have never finished.

Stump said, "It is exciting and rewarding to study and work with college students. Those that show up for their appointments, that is." Nurse Stump plans to attend graduate school in the future, so she will be able to prescribe medicine and do lab work.

After this article comes out Nurse Stump is planning yet another article to be published. The second article will explain "Patient Compliance" which is how to get college students to do what they need to get well. The article will include how to get students to take their medication, get rest, and basically follow the Doctor/Nurse's directions.

Stump said that "if everyone was a good consumer of health care, we would all be better off."

Intramural update

Congratulations to our 5-on-5 basketball champions — Men's: The Dog Pound. Women's: Schaul's Team.

Softball registration is coming soon! It opens March 14 and closes March 21.

A Whiffleball Tournament is coming soon to a Saturday along with Horseback Riding Clinics!

WESQ now running story of blues through April 1

North Carolina Wesleyan College's public radio station WESQ 90.9 FM has begun a new program entitled, "The Blues Story: Triumph of an American Musical Art Form."

Sprint Carolina Telephone is sponsoring the program, which runs until April 1, three times a week — Wednesdays at 2 p.m., Thursdays at 6:30 p.m., and Fridays at 4 p.m.

The half-hour shows will cover an introduction to the blues, origins and early blues recordings and stars, blues in the big cities, the art and business of blues, and the legacy the blues have left.

WESQ, approaching its second year of operation, boasts more than 50 volunteers, broadcasting 150 hours a week. Classical music covers every weekday from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m., and jazz can be heard weekday afternoons from 2-5 p.m.

Additionally, WESQ carries the National Public Radio news programs "Morning Edition" (Monday-Friday, 6-9 a.m.) and "All Things Considered" (Monday-Friday, 5-6:30 p.m.), as well as the popular "Car Talk" (Saturdays, 10-11 a.m.). WESQ's diversified programming includes alternative, big band, Christian alternative, rhythm and blues, and country music.

Snapshot of Spring Fling!

Here's a preview of the activities planned for Spring Fling so that you can make plans!

April 4 Goofy Olympics, sponsored by Delta Sigma Phi, 4 p.m., Edge Lawn. This is an afternoon of fun and games! The crazier the better!

NCAA Championship party, sponsored by Sigma Pi, time TBA, SAC. Come cheer on your favorite team! Decorations will resemble the teams and prizes will be given out!

April 5 Talent Show, sponsored by Sigma Phi Delta, 9:30 p.m., SAC. Get your talent ready, because we offer great prizes for the best talent!

April 6 Tye Dying Party, sponsored by Pi Epsilon, 4 p.m. Edge Lawn. Join us on the Edgecombe Lawn in making your own masterpiece!

April 7 Pie Throwing Contest, sponsored by SNCAE, 4 p.m., Patio. Start collecting your pennies so that you can buy a pie to throw at your favorite faculty and staff members!

"You Laugh You Lose Comedy Game Show," 9:30 p.m., SAC. Don't miss out on this great comedy show with three comedians. Also, you may have a chance to win big! If the comics can't make you laugh, you win $$$!

April 8 Beach Blast '94, time TBA, Edge Lawn. We are bringing in a huge pool and Sumo Wrestling for your entertainment! We will even have a DJ or possibly have a radio station broadcasting live!

April 9 "Sun Tan Jam" Band Day, co-sponsored by Delta Sigma Phi, times TBA, Edge Lawn. Join us on the Edge Lawn for an all-day band festival! We will have a variety of bands! Bring your picnic and hang out on the lawn!