ACE PARKER

John Parker, of Plant #7 Dye House, admires the number seven iron with which he made a hole-in-one at the Blair Park course. Playing a temporary green 145 yards from the tee, "Ace" Parker made his second hole-in-one. His other ace was also at Blair Park. Parker has been golfing for about fifteen years. He has been playing recently with Frank B. Smith of our Sales Department, who claims to have given Parker some pointers on the game. It has not been determined whether Smith has been demonstrating the right way or the wrong way to swing the club.

Parker said he had not realized he had made a hole-in-one until he had difficulty in finding his ball. Needless to say, he was amazed to find the ball in the cup.

Questions and Answers

Just what is the United Fund Drive?

Once each year, twenty-eight character building agencies ask our community to make one contribution to meet their operating expenses. This simple campaign combines into one effort and one asking rather than to have some organization asking each week for a donation.

Who decides which organizations receive support from the United Fund?

There is an admissions committee made up of citizens of High Point who decide which organizations will participate and how much each one will be allocated.

How do we know these organizations get the amount and how is it spent?

The budget committee, made up of citizens in our community, must approve every dollar spent by any one of these organizations.
