Charlie Hall

Larry Simpson

Promotions for two have been announced by R. L. Boyles, director of manufacturing and production for the men's and boys' hosiery division.

Charles W. Hall has been named assistant superintendent of the knitting plant in Kernersville. He had been supervisor of knitting on the third shift in the High Point knitting plant.

Larry Simpson, formerly a fixer in the High Point knitting plant, was promoted to third shift supervisor to succeed Hall.

A native of Archdale, where he has spent his entire life, Charles Hall attended Trinity High School. His first job with Adams-Millis in 1953 was learning to knit. He moved from knitting to fixing in July of 1958. He served as a military policeman with the Army from March of 1959 to March of 1961 at Fort Devins, Mass., Fort Jackson, S. C., and Fort Gordon, Georgia. Hall has been knitting room supervisor since May of 1964.

Charles was married to Frances Carroll on May 19, 1959. They have two daughters, Kimberly and Kelly, and one son, Mark. They are members of Archdale Baptist Church, and Charles is a member of the High Point Industrial Management Club. They live on Driftwood Drive in Archdale.

"I live on the water all of my leisure time," Charles said in speaking of his hobbies. And he is well prepared with an 18-foot boat equipped with a 70 horsepower motor. His other hobby is gun collecting.

Larry Simpson joined Adams-Millis after his graduation at Wallburg High School. He started as a komet knitter in 1957 and was promoted to fixing in 1965.

Simpson served two years in the U. S. Army. He was with the infantry in the state of Washington and served a six-month assignment in Germany.

Larry lives between Wallburg and Winston-Salem, N. C.; he is a member of New Friendship Baptist Church. His hobby is golf. "I play golf every day; I like to play different courses which offer different challenges," Larry described his game. He shoots in the low eighties and on his better days will score in the seventies. His love for golf makes the third shift more desirable for Larry, and anyone looking for a partner will find him ready to play.
