

FIRST AID ATTENDANTS TRAINED

FIRST AID FACILITIES EXPANDED

On October 16 and 17, TexElastic held a Multi-Media First Aid Course at the Archdale plant. The sixteen employees of the Yarn and Hosiery Divisions attending the eight-hour training session are now certified by the American Red Cross to administer in-plant first aid for the next three years.

TexElastic employees completing the Red Cross first aid course pause in the Archdale plant's new first aid room. On the front row, left to right, are Ken Ingram, Joyce Kirby and Frances Eller; on the back row, left to right, are Bill Rook, Ken Ervin, Jerry Holder, Bill Younan, Roger Inman and Wilford Venable. Hosiery Division employees qualifying for certificates were Joseph Arnold, Esther Cook and Cecil Wyatt, all of the Men's and Boys' Division in High Point; and Sandra Shepard, Dwight Miller, Max Moore and Ruth Lee of the Ladies' Hosiery Division in High Point.

NEW FIRST AID ROOM, ARCHDALE

When an injury is sustained, it should be reported to supervision immediately in order that first aid may be administered if needed and a doctor's services engaged if professional treatment is necessary.

The label room in the Raeford plant is being converted into a first aid room. With these new facilities, the Yarn Division will be much better prepared to administer first aid when an injury occurs on the job.

TEXELASTIC ENGAGES NEW PHYSICIAN SERVICES

TexElastic's Archdale plant, along with Adams-Millis Texturing and Dyeing in High Point, has a new group of physicians who will take care of all employees who have an accident on the job. The new group, High Point Surgical Associates, is comprised of Doctors Douglass, Canipe, and Carr, who will work with injured employees to administer proper medical treatment so the employees can return to work as soon as possible after an injury and thereby lose as little wages as possible.

TexElastic looks forward to a close working relationship with the new physicians and is glad to be able to provide excellent professional care to its employees when an accident occurs.

The company will continue, however, to provide the safest possible working conditions and encourage employees to work safely so there will be NO ACCIDENTS.

Liars begin by imposing on others, and end by deceiving themselves.