

Basketball Going Strong

Doug Tate reported recently that up to that time Anvil Brand had played five basketball games. He couldn't recall the score in four of them but he recalled easily that the score in the game with Marsh Furniture was 63-32 in favor of Anvil Brand.

The four other games just happened to be contests in which the Anvil Brand boys were beaten by lucky opponents and it is quite understandable that Doug didn't bother to remember those scores.

Seriously, Anvil Brand's basketball team is having a lot of fun playing in the Industrial League and probably could be spurred to greater heights by a good Anvil Brand rooting section. Wednesdays' at 7 p.m. is the time and the Y.M.C.A. is the place so if you can get away from home for an hour or two next Wednesday, stop at the "Y" and see some good basketball.

David Moore currently is the top scorer on the team but the six other members of the team also are doing their share of good playing.

DUNGAREE—

Donald Haney from Alaska where he has been in the Army two years. . . . Louise J. Davis is back at work after a siege in the hospital.

Congratulations to Jean Kirk who was married to Harold Gilmore December 22. N. M. Cates, Justice of the Peace, heard the vows.

Katie Gibbons drove to Pilot Mountain recently. . . . Ida Haynes visited in Norfolk over the weekend.

We're glad to hear Edna Worrell is improving after an operation. She is home from the hospital now and we hope she soon will be back at work.

Drive Safely! Did you know that when a car is going 60 mph it can't be stopped completely under 264 feet! That's twice the distance between home plate and second, and 12 feet more.

Man who makes a business of catching them says mice prefer gumdrops to cheese.

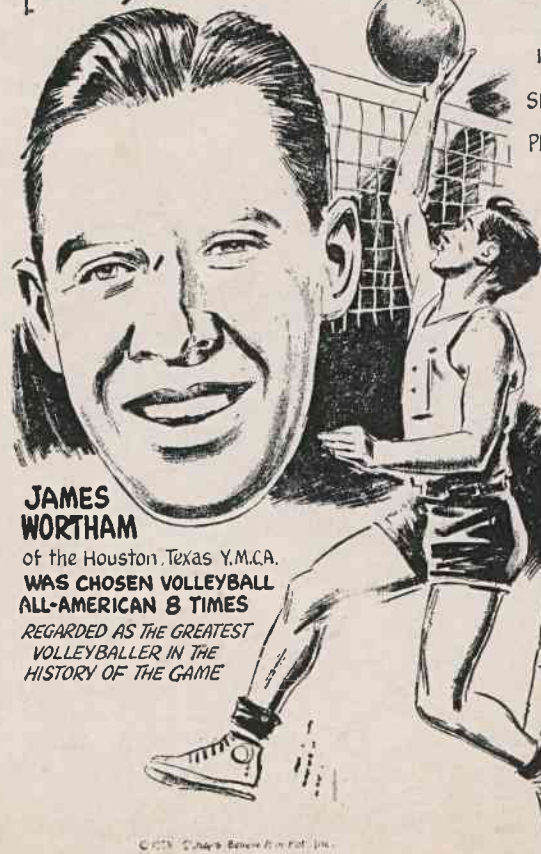

At least 20 manufacturing companies today cater to the educated appetites of U. S. household pets. Dog food alone marked up $200 million sales in 1953 — almost double the sales of 1947.

They say there are about 32,000,000 of us in the fortunate land who are overweight and yearning to reduce.

A FAMILY AFFAIR—When Shirley Ann Leonard, above, was snapped by the Sew It Seams photographer last week, the idea was just a picture of a pretty granddaughter visiting adoring grandmother Ila Leonard at Anvil Brand. However, further investigation revealed that Shirley Ann probably has the distinction of the most relatives working at Anvil Brand. Just a few of her close kin include Roy Rickard of Traffic, a great uncle; Rosa Wilkerson, a great aunt; Frances Workman, a great aunt, Blanche Slits Leonard is Shirley Ann's mother and formerly worked at Anvil Brand. This picture turned out to be a special one for Ila, too, as next month she will have been with Anvil Brand 31 years.

Y Program For Working Women

To learn, to serve, to grow spiritually, to have fun . . . these are some of the opportunities the YWCA offers women in its activities. There are clubs, which have programs all year 'round varying from inspirational speakers all the way to costume parties; there are classes in sports and handicrafts; and there are regular programs, such as monthly book reviews and Bible studies.

The High Point YMCA is very interested in having working women take advantage of its services and activities. If you know someone who is a "Y" member, ask HER if joining the "Y" couldn't make your life more enriching. The YWCA would like to see you coming to its classes and clubs, and what's more, the YWCA would like to have your ideas about different activities which you would like included in its schedule. For the present schedule, check the YWCA calendar in the High Point Enterprise, and for any questions or suggestions call 2-1613. The YWCA staff is there to serve you.

Never underestimate the buying power of Mr. John Q. Breadwinner! Seven out of ten men shop in food stores at least once a week — much oftener than they did five years ago.

Man who says he's researched the subject, reports that there are 45,000,000 families in the U. S., and that only three percent have dishwashing machines.

The world's most curious thing is a woman who isn't.
