

Shirt at White

By Myrtle Jennings

Getha Cox of Shirt and Mable Sorrell of Pants Department were honored with a birthday dinner recently by Mrs. Pierce, Cariene Hill, Olie Beck and Dora Byerly. Bill Thomas also was a guest.

Lorine Bundy surely does believe in traffic signs now. She says if you don't believe a cop will stop you for doing 55 miles per hour in a 35-mile zone, you're just being fooled. She paid a fine to prove it . . . Mary Sparks is a happy somebody now; her daughter, Janice, her son-in-law and grandson are visiting her from California.

Glad to have Emma Staley and Glenda Bowman back after their absence due to sickness . . . Louise Wagner surprised her husband with a birthday supper and her little son celebrated his first birthday Jan. 30.

Glenda Bowman says thanks to the collar-setters for the flowers she received while she was sick. Was sorry to hear about Glenda's husband being in a wreck; hope he soon will be off those crutches.

Mann's Drug Store's bowling team of which Mildred Rickard of Pants and Bertha Ferguson of Shirt, are members, are still holding top place in the city's bowling league.

TEACHERS TOUR PLANTS — Five teachers from the High Point city schools were visitors in Anvil Brand's three local plants recently. Left to right, observing Kathleen Causey at her machine in the Overall Department are Aline Carter, G. C. Frye, Donna Burns, Ossie Wright, Mrs. Luna Ray, Mrs. Hazel Smith, and Mrs. Lola Hodgkin.

Old age is that period when men pay more attention to their food than they do a pretty waitress.

A wise man, finding himself in hot water, decides he needs a bath anyway.

Swallowing one's pride occasionally has never been known to cause indigestion.

A preacher asked a man if his wife had any aim in life. "I'll say she has," was the reply. "Look where she hit me—right in the middle of the forehead—with a teacup."

Cultivate only those habits that you are willing should master you.

Anvil Brand in cooperation with the local Chamber of Commerce, was host to five local school teachers last month when they made an afternoon tour of the local plants.

Associated Industries also was a co-sponsor of this project which was known as Business-Industry-Education Day.

The five teachers were shown through the plant by Aline Carter and Ossie Wright and observed various operations.

Jack Rives talked to the teachers after the tour and said they were an unusually interested group of visitors.
