

Interest Mounts In Bowling; Dinner At Supper Club Planned

All of a sudden interest has quickened in Anvil Brand's bowling program with the Friday night sessions lots of fun. And too, the bowlers voted to wind up their season next Spring with a big party at the Plantation Supper Club, which will be an event worth looking forward to.

Each Friday night the bowlers put 10 cents a piece in the "Jackpot" and when they're through bowling next Spring they figure there will be plenty of funds to take everybody out to the Plantation for a really gala affair.

Anna McKinney says so far about six teams are made up, but there is still time for others to join in. So anybody interested in joining the fun (doesn't matter whether you know how to bowl or not; you can learn) is urged to contact Anna in Personnel.

Here are some standings as of a week ago:

Among the spectators at the World Series games at Yankee Stadium were our own Paul Frye and L. H. Robbins. Being devout Yankee fans they were disappointed that the game on Friday was rained out but they were right there on Saturday to root for their team. Who won the series, Paul?

Our newest bridegroom in the shipping room is Ralph Teague. On Sept. 8 in Chesterfield, S. C., Miss Peggy Smith became his bride. Peggy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Smith of Ragan Street.

Johnny Hooker is a proud papa. A little girl, Jauanna came Sept. 1 and he and the Mrs. have decided to keep her. Mrs. Hooker is the former Pat Saunders of Ladies' Dept.

LOOK AT THIS CUTIE!—Sue Ellen Cowan is the daughter of Dave Cowan, Anvil Brand Salesman in Columbus, Ohio. She is the grandmother of Ola McMillan of Sherrod.

Mary Sprye is a proud grandmother. Her daughter and son-in-law have a fine baby boy, Michael Ellis Doub, born Aug. 6 . . . Glad to have Nina Martin back after being out 3 months because of an operation. (Things got too quiet while she was gone.)

Our sweeper, Jessie Feemster, has the fishing fever as bad as anyone we know. She went to Wrightsville Beach last weekend and reports the fish biting like crazy . . . Ethel Brown and family accompanied by her father and mother took a mountain trip to Cherokee . . . Louise Davis had her son from Jackson, Miss., for a visit.

A proud grandmother is Winnie Shirley. Her son and daughter-in-law have a new daughter, Pamela Alethia Shirley.

Judy Hendren had Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Tye of Columbia, S.C., as her guest last weekend. Judy also would like to say thanks for the birthday gifts and cards she received.

When a man doesn't care what people think of him, he has reached either the top or the bottom.

The city boy was being led through the swamps of Georgia. "Is it true," he asked, "that an alligator won't attack you if you carry a flashlight?"

"Well now," drawled his guide, "that depends on how fast you carry the flashlight."

Finding fault is no way to make a fortune, unless the fault is found in your own business.

A BEAUTY — Mary Lou Bonham represented Anvil Brand in a recent beauty contest in Independence, Va. Easy to see why she was chosen, isn't it. Mary Lou has been an operator for the company for over a year.
