

Thirteen Receive Awards

Last week in three different departments in Anvil Brand plants a very special ceremony took place. One person in each of these departments was honored by management as "25-Year Employees" and Mr. Jack Rives, assistant to the executive vice-president, brought congratulatory remarks from the company.

Also the three were presented handsome gold watches, engraved with their name and the Anvil Brand emblem.

Achieving the 25-year mark were Miss Louise Welch of Sherrod Office, Mrs. Hattie Bray of Overall and Wiley Green Clary, mechanical department.

Louise has had experience in several departments in the company and now is senior clerk in charge of the ticket office at Sherrod. She lives at 1600 Johnson Street.

Mrs. Bray has worked in Overall the entire time she has been with the company and Mr. Clary has been in the mechanical department throughout his 25 years with the firm. Mrs. Bray lives at 2104 Baltimore Avenue and Mr. Clary at 1304 Worth Avenue.

Employees who this year marked 15 and 20 years with the company were given pins, with a ruby centering the 15 year emblems and a diamond the 20-year pins.

Four persons at Sherrod received pins. They included J. W. Ingram, Hattie Bizzell and Beatrice Craven, all of whom have been with the firm 20 years. Ila Whicker received a 15-year pin. She was not present when the photographs were made of those who received awards.

In the Overall Department Sadie Hedgecock and Ella Rook were presented 20-year emblems and in Sport Shirt Jessie Fritts and Flossie Hines were given 15-year pins.

Two salesmen qualified for 15-year emblems; Joe Macklin of Delaware and Dick Robatham of New Jersey.

OVERHEARD

Here is another report of political conscience that comes direct from Washington. The hostess was entertaining a political incumbent, and gushingly remarked, "You know, I've heard a great deal about you."

The politician replied, absently, "Possibly, but you can't prove anything."

Inquired the Sunday school teacher of her class: "Who was the first man?"

"George Washington," promptly announced a restless boy.

"Oh, no," corrected the instructor, with an amused smile.

"Well, then, I suppose it was Adam," muttered the boy; "if you're counting them foreigners."
