ABOUT NORTH CAROLINA COLLEGE FOR NEGROES

PHYSICAL EDUCATION AND ATHLETICS

The institution employs a director of physical education for the purpose of giving every student a thorough course in physical training under a trained director. The type of training for each student depends upon the student's physical development. The course consists of physical drills, elementary boxing, group games and hiking.

The athletic association provides tennis courts and balls which may be used by both the male and female students.

Inter-collegiate games in the major sports are engaged in both with teams in the North Carolina Conference and other conferences. Inter-collegiate games are under the supervision of an athletic council consisting of faculty, alumni and student representatives.

The teams are trained by skilled coaches for values that come from such exercises as bodily control, physical and mental alertness and the principles of fair play.
