The Freshman Class was successful in out painting the Sophomore in a debate held Feb. 17 in Avery Auditorium. The discussion was a very heated one and proved to be of much interest to those who attended.

We are very proud of the contribution that our class is making toward making the baseball team a success. We feel very proud of the team because of their previous record and the record and the records we are looking forward to them to make. Shall we bring the Championship of the C.I.A.A. here?

We, the members of the Freshmen class of the North Carolina College have at last realized our responsibility as college students. We are endeavoring and working to make our class one of the strongest and best classes in this institution. We are striving to raise our scholastic record each month and so far have made much progress during the last month. We shall also cooperate with every movement made for the uplift of our school and ourselves. We have learned before it was too late that all play and no study would profit us nothing so far as marks and advancement are concerned. The only way to success is by long hours of study and hard work.

We are glad to welcome again to our classes the Misses Anna B. Faison and Spencer Thomas after a short absence from school because of illness.

THE FROG WHO TRIED TO BE AN OX

In old Assop's fables we read of a Frog Who burst like a bubble in the air
While trying to show to his friends in the bog
The size of the Ox who'd been there.

And the moral is wrought from this ugly old tale
That one should take care what he tries,
And journey through life on a nice modest scale,
Since only contentment is wise.
And though he was over-ambitious I know I admire both his courage and gall, as it is better to burst while attempting to grow
Than to have no ambition at all.
