Through the kindness and courtsey of the President, Dr. James E Shepard, and the Trustees of The N. C. College, the third annual Public Welfare Institute for Negroes Social workers had their headquarters at the College Auditorium Feb. 29, Mar. 1, 2, 1928.

The principal speakers were; Dr. E. D. Soper, Judge N. C. Brogen, Dr. Harry W. Crone, Dr. Franklin O. Nichols, Miss Mitchell, Lieut. Oxley, and Mrs. Kate Burr Johnson, State Commissioner of Public Welfare.

The Freshman--Sophomore debate held in Avery Auditorium Feb. 17 proved to be a great success. Although the Freshman were the victors, the Sophomores showed great ability as debaters.

The "Merry Makers"

It is obvious that the "Merry Makers" do not desire to be thought to be in a state of seclusion; for, already they have announced the forthcoming of a great "Rejuvenation" on Mar. 30. The hearty support of all is asked for.

The Parliamentary Law Classes, under the direction of Dr. O'Kelly are making a great progress.

The entire student body, especially the girls, are glad to have Miss Rush, the Dean of Women, back at her post of duty.

Dr. Franklin O. Nichols, a member of the American Hygiene Association and the only widely known Negro who devotes full time to the study of "Sex Relations" of our race, addressed the student body, faculty, and friends on February 15, 1928, in the Avery Auditorium. Again on February 21, he spoke on the "The Negro Family and Some of it's Programs".

On February 15, 1928 Miss Nell Battle Lewis, Publicist and aspirant for political honor from her county, Wake County, Address the students, faculty, and many white and colored visitors in the Avery Auditorium on the subject of southern literature. Dr. Shepard introduced her to the audience in a language that well bespoke her personal and traditional interest in inter-racial problems.
