

Danforth Foundation Teaching Fellowships Are Now Available

The Danforth Foundation of Saint Louis, Missouri, invites applications for the third class (1954) of Graduate Fellowships for college seniors and recent graduates who are preparing themselves for a career of college teaching, and are planning to enter graduate school in September, 1954, for the first year of graduate study. The Foundation welcomes applicants from the fields of Natural Sciences, Social Sciences, Humanities and other fields of specialization to be found in the undergraduate college.

President A. Elder has named Dr. J. N. Hughley as the Liaison Officer to work with the Danforth Foundation on the selection of candidates. These appointments are primarily "a relationship of encouragement," carrying a promise of financial aid within prescribed conditions as there may be need. Students with or without financial need are invited to apply. A Danforth Fellow is allowed to carry other scholarship appointment, such as Fulbright, Woodrow Wilson, G. E. B., etc.

All Danforth Fellows will participate in the annual Danforth Foundation Conference on Teaching, to be held at Camp Miniwanca in Michigan next September. The qualifications of the candidate as listed in the announcement from the Foundation are:

Evidence of superior intellectual ability in college record.

Good record of health and emotional stability.

Outgoing personality and the concern for people, essential for successful teaching.

Choice of vocation of teaching as form of Christian Service.

Deep religious convictions and growing religious perspectives. (The Foundation is looking for candidates who are seriously examining their own religious life, and are seeking a maturing faith and a social outreach.)

Each institution is asked to limit its nominations to two, or at the most three. Any student wishing further information should get in touch with Dr. J. Neal Hughley.

Dr. J. M. Hubbard, Durham dentist, is beginning his fifth year as secretary of the interracial Trustees Board of the North Carolina College at Durham. Dr. Hubbard is a noted Baptist churchman who is an alumnus of the North Carolina College and president of the James E. Shepard Memorial Foundation.

Little Early Bird Signs In Here

The first potential member of the class of 1971 made his application to Miss Eagleson's office last week.

The applicant is Killian Brumfield Stewart, 5 months and 6 days old at the time of application. He is the son of Dean and Mrs. John L. Stewart.

The youthful applicant listed himself as "single" and said that he probably wouldn't be receiving benefits under the GI Bill since he's not a veteran. He also confessed that he hasn't participated in many student activities previously but might find time to join a few clubs when he enters NCC. He considers "playing with my mother and dad" his favorite amusement and "eating good food" his favorite hobby. Young Stewart said he hasn't read many books recently but "My Baby, etc." are the magazines most often found about the house.

The registrar said the application wouldn't be acted upon immediately.

Dr. Elder Attends Georgia Meeting

President Alfonso Elder, and Dr. William Brown and Dr. Percy Young, professors of education at NCC, attended the Atlanta Educational Conference in Atlanta, Georgia, November 9-13. The conference was concerned with discovering ways of improving the graduate program of training the Negro high school principal.

The conference was one of several conferences held to find ways and means of training the high school principals so they will be capable of handling the large high schools that have suddenly come into being through consolidation.

Approximately eighty representatives of State agents for Negro Education, state and county superintendents, high school and elementary school principals, college teachers, and college presidents, attended the conference.

instruments of promoting self-direction."

Rosa Davis, Junior, Durham, N. C.: "No. I don't think that class attendance should be compulsory. As college students we should know that by not going to class it will only hinder us in the future. After all, when we get out in the world, we won't be compelled to work."

Mary Jane Young, Sophomore, Greensboro, N. C.: "No. It deprives the student of his right to exercise a sense of self-direction, which is one of the school's major aims. A student's education cannot be complete with merely what he learns in class. There will be many times when he may find it more educational to be elsewhere at the time he is scheduled to be in class.

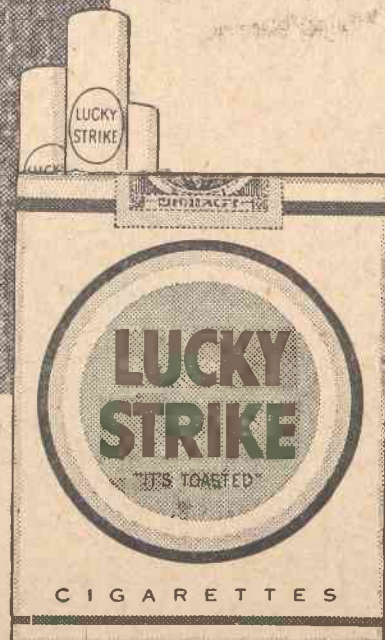

Dudley Flood, Senior, Winton, N. C.: "No, class attendance should never be compulsory for people who have to be forced to face responsibilities have no business in college.

Brand-new national survey shows college students prefer Luckies

Last year a survey was made in leading colleges throughout the country which showed that smokers in those colleges preferred Luckies to any other cigarette. This year another nation-wide survey was made—a representative survey of all students in regular colleges coast to coast. Based on thousands of actual student interviews—this survey shows that, as last year, Luckies lead again—lead over all other brands, regular or king-size—and by a wide margin! The reason: Luckies taste better.
