Royster Wins Q Talent Hunt

Issac Royster, a student at Mary Potter High School in Oxford, will represent the Beta Phi and Tau Psi Chapters of Omega Psi Phi Fraternity in a talent hunt Program to be held in Spartanburg, S. C. later in the spring.

Royster, who sang "Holy City," was selected from other contestants at the Ninth Annual Talent Hunt Demonstration held in the Hillside High School Auditorium on March 17, 1955. In winning the preliminaries, Royster received a sum of thirty five dollars. The fraternity will sponsor his trip to Spartanburg.

Other winners on the program were William McPhatter, clarinetist from Lee County Training School in Sanford, who won a War Bond for being the best instrumentalist. James Wiggins, from Merrick-Moore School in Durham County, received five dollars for his reading of Poe's "The Raven."

Non-competitive numbers by NCC students as part of the evening's entertainment were rendered. Miss Colletta Barbee of Mrs. Sherma Lowe's dance group did a creative dance number. Miss Barbara J. Ray, soprano, with Mr. Hill's 85-voice mixed chorus, sang Bizet's "Sanish Serenade." She was accompanied on the piano by Hubert Waters, a senior music major.

Professor Samuel W. Hill, director of the NCC choir, accompanied the singing contestants.

Dr. Paul Koepke, professor of music at NCC, served as judge for the contest.

30 Join 'Y' In Membership Drive

Thirty new members recently joined the YMCA in the campus chapter's membership drive which has as its goal the securing of at least one hundred new members.

Artie S. Lucas, chairman of the membership drive, stated that the "Y" wants to bring into its fellowship both those men who want to be active in the organization and those who recognize the value of the "Y" and who desire to contribute to it even though they may be unable to participate in its activities. Assisting Lucas in directing the drive are Nathaniel Dedmond and William Nelson. The local chapter of the "Y" held four programs during the winter quarter. Dr. Alvin W. Rose, NCC sociology professor spoke on "the Crises of Desegregation," and Mr. Alex Rivera, columnist for the Pittsburgh Courier, spoke on "The Effects of the Supreme Court's Decision in the South," in separate discussion in late January.

The interracial meetings, one with the religious groups of the University of North Carolina, the other with religious groups of Duke University, were held recently.

"Y" activities planned for the third quarter include bridge and ping pong tournaments, swimming parties and picnics.

BY EDITH WHITE

"What Do You See In A Picture?" is the question posed by the photograph exhibit now on display on the first floor of the James E. Shepard Memorial Library. The exhibit is designed to teach students what to look for in a photograph, thereby developing deeper appreciation for photography, according to Mr. J. E. Parker, director of the Audio-Visual Center.

In explaining the exhibit, Mr. Parker said that audio-visual education teaches one that appreciation is enjoyment only through understanding, that one begins to appreciate a picture when he knows what to look for and when he can recognize certain skills in it.

A number of the shots show methods of securing illusions of three dimensions or depth in pictures. Some of the pictures show the different methods and effects for securing perfect lighting. One photograph shows the deliberate double exposure for showing different moods of an individual.

The student models are Yvonne Griswell, Columbia, N. C.; Gladys Chavis, Ahoskie; Jereline Blacknell, Miami, Fla.; James Courtney, Washington, D. C.; Henry Davis, Gary, Ind.; Zander Dockery, III, Philadelphia, Pa.; Darrel Turner, Burlington; Francis McGhee, Alexandria, Va.; Lloyd Mitchell, Walnut Grove; Hortense Boone, Roduco; Frank Sowell, Durham; Gwendolyn Andrews, Durham; Clara Harriston, Winston-Salem; Mary Dillard, Wilson; Shana D. Malone, daughter of Dr. T. A. Malone, department of Biology; Janice Jones, Ahoskie; Melvin Woodburn, Salisbury; and Clyde Richardson, Henderson.
