HELP THE SCHOLARSHIP FUND

Campus Echo North Carolina College at Durham

GIVE THE UNITED WAY

VOLUME 14 — NUMBER 2

DURHAM, NORTH CAROLINA, SATURDAY, OCT. 29, 1955

PRICE 15 CENTS

Durham Welcomes NCC Alumi

Thespians Mum On Duke Rumpus

"Mum" is the official word of | 1) The Executive Council of NCC Thespians concerning the the Duke Players "wishing to integration controversy at Duke repay several friendly gestures University in which the NCC theatre group is directly in- Dramatic Department" voted to volved.

in vain a statement from Thes- Duke. pian president Barbara Lumpthe Duke University Chronicle.

Barbara first said she needed to counsel with Miss Mary Bohanon, Thespian adviser, after which she declined comment, saying that the group would have nothing to say on lished a front page story in the integration issue at Duke University.

having integrated play audiences at Duke went like this:

Rating Group Checks College

North Carolina College was host to representatives from the leges and Secondary Schools on Oct. 17, 18, and 19

Representing the Association were Dr. Preston Valien, Fisk University, Nashville, Tenn.; Dr. Kenneth G. Kuenher, Coker College, Hartsville, S. C.; and Dr. Richard M. Reser, Oglethorpe University, Oglethorpe, Georgia.

representatives was to evaluate the college.

North Carolina College, founded in 1910, was given "B" rating in 1931, by the Southern Association. In 1937, NCC became an "A" rated institution. The visfirst since the college received since September, 1953. its "A" rating.

The Southern Association consists of colleges and high from various organizations, she schools, white and Negro, has been the author of many throughout the South. The pur- monologues, performed for pose of the Association is to charity since 1939 at churches, evaluate and rate the member auditoriums, and other meeting of the North Carolina College invite NCC Thespians to attend Campus Echo reporters sought their dramatic productions at

2) Their proposal was taken kin, Durham junior, last week to the Duke administration who when the heated issue broke in turned down the proposal on grounds that "we cannot invite anyone to come to our shows and performances without providing adequate facilities (restroom and seating) for them."

3) The Chronicle then pubwhich was revealed the attitude and reaction of the administra-The steps in the attempt at tion toward having integrated play audiences. The Chronicle Sneed is President also ran an editorial which condemned the administration for continuing to be guided by an "unwritten poicy" of segregation.

> According to the Chronicle, 'It is time for the Board of Trustees to state a policy. We request, therefore, a guest editorial from thom; wy will reserve this lead editorial space in the issue two weeks (Oct. 28) from tonight for their reply."

Carmel Marr Speaks During U.N. Week

The annual United Nations Week was observed here 12:30 The purpose of the visiting last Monday when the Forum Committee presented Mrs. Carmel Marr of the UN staff in an assembly address at B. N. Duke Duke Auditorium.

Mrs. Marr, a graduate of Columbia University Law School, it recently concluded was the 1948, has been on the UN staff

> In addition to receiving several awards and citations

CAPT. MATT BOONE

Of Co-eds' Govt.

Kitty Sneed, a senior music major of Durham, was elected president of the Women's Assembly for the current school year. Her election was confirmed during the second meeting of the Women's Assembly

Upon accepting the presidency, Miss Sneed said, "I shall strive to carry out efficiently the responsibilities of this office. It is my belief that the combined efforts of this entire group will help us to attain the principles of womanhood as stated in our creed."

The hewly-elected members of the Women's Assembly's steering committee are: senior at-large, Carolyn Black; freshman on-campus representative, Ruth Royster; and freshman off-campus representative, Sarah Bell.

Capital City Ready For Students' Meet

The 19th Annual North Carolina State Student Legislative Assembly, will convene at 4 p. m. in the capitol building in Raleigh Nov. 17-19. This colleges and universities in the State of North Carolina.

Bills concerning state and local problems are presented for discussion by the junior senators and representatives in their respective houses.

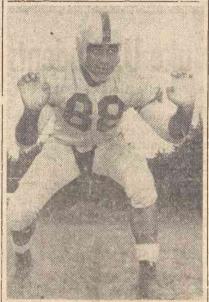

tives to the NCSSLA. The re- November 3. presentatives were Beatrice Cogdell, Peggy Hinton, Shirley Robert Perry.

have not been selected as yet. However, Robert Perry and faculty at Hampton Institute. Beatrice Cogdell, delegates to the Interim Council, the goverderway to have NCC adequate- president. ly represented at this confer-be the football game between the Shaw University. Game time is activities.

Alma Mater.

In honor of the occasion, the college, together with the Dur-

CAPT. ROSS HINES

An NCC professor, Dr. Lincoln J. Harrison, Commerce Department chairman, has been appointed to the City Bond Advisory Committee by Mayor E.

Dr. Harrison is one of four Negroes appointed to the important finance committee. Others include J. H. Wheeler, president of Mechanics and Farmers Bank; Mr. W. J. Walker, manager of the Southern Fidelity Mutual Insurance Company; and Mr. J. S. Stewart, executive secretary of the Mutual Building and Savings Association.

The 40 member advisory committee will work with the City and the annual Alumni Home-Council in determining what the coming Dance at the W. D. Hill city's bond needs are for various Recreation Center beginning at civic improvements and in deassembly is attended by repre-ciding upon the amount of each sentatives from twenty-five bond issue to satisfy these needs.

It's Homecoming Day for sev- | ham Business and Professional eral thousand alumni who are Chain, and the Durham populace expected to return to Durham at large have joined forces in today for their annual visit to an effort to make the occasion a memorable one. The Chain be-High point of the activity will gins its annual celebration of Trade Week today in conjunc-NCC Eagles and the Bears of tion with the NCC Homecoming

> For the first time in recent years, the college has provided a central office for alumni. It is to be located in the Men's Gymnasium on the first floor.

> The local campus has been a buzz with activity for over a month now since Homecoming Architects Alfred Fisher, Durham, and Clara Wertz, Charlotte, started mapping plans for the celebration.

> In addition to the game and parade, which will throw the spotlight on "Miss Homecoming," beauteous Octavia Tedder. Durham senior, numerous other functions designed to appeal to alumni and students have been Activities began last Wednesday at 12 p.m. with the men of Chidley Hall's exuberant pep rally in B. N. Duke Auditorium. There were a TV show over WTVD featuring Homecoming principals Thursday at 3 p. m., registration for alumni in room Os of the Men's Cym on France at 2, an alumni get-together at the Algonquin Tennis Club from 9 to midnight on Friday, and other campus activities including a 12:30 p. m. pep rally among students in B. N. Duke, a movie Friday night at 8:15 sponsored by the Athletic Committee in the Auditorium, followed by a bon fire Friday night at quarter to ten.

Today's schedule began with breakfast at 8:30 to 10:30 in the college's cafeteria and a coffee hour from 9:30 to 12:30 for former residents of Senior Hall.

Floats will be assembled at the Durham Athletic Park at 10 a. m., and the parade, which will lead fans to O'Kelly Field, scene of the grid clash, will begin at 11:30. There will be Homecoming Dance for alumni, students, and faculty members in the Women's Gym tonight from 8-12. midnight.

The parade, which will fea-(Continued on Page Ten)

Dr. Stephen J. Wright, presi- annual meeting of the James E. deliver the annual Founder's Administration Building. Last year, North Carolina Day address in Duke Auditor-College sent five representa- ium at 11 a. m. on Thursday, secretary, says the meeting is A graduate of Hampton Institute and Howard University Cannon, Lucille Reynolds, and with a Ph.D. degree from New York University, Dr. Wright cisions are expected to be made The delegates for this year formerly served as a high school regarding the statue of Dr. Shefrom North Carolina College teacher, principal, and prior to going to Bluefield, as dean of the foundation's program." He memorates the life and work of ning body of this assembly, in- the late Dr. James E. Shepard, ly to graduates of state high dicated that plans are well un- the college's founder and first schools who desire to attend

One of the features of the Founder's Day rites will be the

dent of Bluefield State College, Shepard Memorial Foundation Bluefield, West Virginia, will at 4 p. m. in Room 104 of the James T. Taylor, executive open to all persons who have contributed as much as $5 to the organization.

Taylor says "important depard and the scholarship part of said NCC students had received NCC's Founder's Day com- some 52 scholarship grants. These scholarships are open on-NCC and who qualify through competitive examinations.

Durhamite reigns today "Miss Homecoming 1955."

Miss Tedder was chosen by the Lettermens' Club, along with two other candidates, Marlene Enoch, junior from Burlington, N. C., and Garlinda Carroll, sophomore from Enfield, N. C. to run in a campuswide election for queen of the Homecoming festivities today.

"Miss Homecoming of 1955" and her attendant's hold several things in common. All three are commercial education majors and education minors and are looking forward to secretarial positions after graduations. They are also members of the Commercial Club.

Miss Tedder is a former member of North Carolina College Band and Miss Enoch is a member of the Ivy Leaf Club, pledge Octavia Tedder, a senior Club to the Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority.

OCTAVIA TEDDER