The seniors pictured here are to be included in the 1958-59 edition of WHO'S WHO IN AMERICAN COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES.

The students recognized by this organization each year are nominated from approximately 750 colleges and universities. Campus nominating committees are instructed to consider, in making their selections, the student's scholarship; his participation and leadership in academic and extra-curricular activities; his citizenship and service to the school; his promise of future usefulness.

The organization awards each member a certificate of recognition, presented on the campus either at graduation or earlier in the year. Also, it provides a placement or reference service to assist members seeking employment.

N. C. College Band Director To Play In Master Band In Chicago

(NB) Richard H. L. Jones, director of the North Carolina College band is one of the hundred outstanding musicians selected to play in the 4th All-American Bandmasters' Band in Chicago on December 20th. Major George H. Wilcocks of London, England, renowned European Bandmaster, will make the trip to Chicago expressly to rehearse and conduct this select band which will appear in connection with the Mid-West National Band Clinic, Sherman Hotel, Chicago.

The All-American Bandmasters' Band which appears in concert only once a year, is composed entirely of band directors who are carefully selected from applicants from all over the United States and Canada. This select group meets in Chicago, rehearses intensely for a brief eight hours, and presents a concert for the 5,000 music directors, school administrators and guests who annually attend this largest of all meetings devoted exclusively to the teaching problems of the band director and the advancement of school music programs. Rarely does an opportunity present itself for a school music director to utilize his proficiency as a musician in such a way. In previous years, participating AABB members have commented that this has been one of the most thrilling musical experiences of their careers.

In view of the high caliber of personnel selected, our city can well be proud of Mr. Jones's selection for participation. This unquestionably brings musical recognition to our city.

New Women's Dorm Under Construction

2 1/2 Million Dollar Expansion Planned

A two and one-half million dollar expansion and capital improvement program is planned at North Carolina College.

Details of the plan were revealed here recently after a special call meeting of the college's trustees. That meeting's purpose was to give formal approval to loan arrangements for a $500,000 women's dormitory now under construction.

Plans for a 10 year program were also listed at the session.

Recommendations from the Board of Higher Education to the Advisory Budget Commission are for $300,960 in reconstruction, renovations, and minor additions during the next biennium.

Three new buildings are on the recommended list for the future, Social Science and Communications Building, $500,000; Student Center and Cafeteria, $600,000; and dormitory for 500 students, one and one half million dollars.

At the special trustee session, Bascom Baynes, noted Durham insurance executive, was re-elected chairman. Also renamed were Welch Harris, vice chairman, High Point, and Dr. J. M. Hubbard, Sr., Durham.

The purpose of the week's session was to approve a loan between the trustees and the Federal Government involving financing a new women's dormitory. The trustees agreed to a transaction up to $450,000. The trustees earlier approved a bid from the Durham Bank and Trust Company for interim financing pending completion of negotiations to issue and sell the bonds. Construction is already underway for the building which will occupy a site near the corner of Lawson and Lincoln Streets.

In other actions the NCC trustees:

(1) Reappointed a special Investment Committee consisting of Baynes, Chairman, NCC president Alfonso Elder, J. H. Wheeler, Asa T. Spaulding, and Watts Hill, Jr.

(2) Approved routine faculty calendar for a session to start on September 15 and end on May 29; and

(3) Approved routine faculty and staff appointments and leaves of absence.

Attending the session were Baynes; John G. Clark, Greenville; Mrs. Ida Duncan, Reidsville; Harris; Dr. Hubbard; Dr. W. W. Pierson, Chapel Hill, and Dillard Teer, Durham. Absent were Dr. J. W. Black, Rocky Mount; M. L. Spears, Durham; Hanes Lassiter, and Matthews.

Barbara Ann Vallet, freshman from Baton Rouge, Louisiana, is holding her first handful of snow. The attractive young co-ed, exultant over seeing snow for the first time, exclaimed, "It's so beautiful! I hope that it is still here December 25, so that I can see my first white Christmas. I'm so excited that I don't know what to do!"

Former Student Charged With Disorderly Conduct, Resistance

By Callis N. Brown

Ivan "Blossom" McCaskill, former law student here and now insurance salesman, was charged with disorderly conduct and resisting an officer at the Thanksgiving Day Classic football game between NCC and A and T College, November 27. The case is to be continued in Recorder's Court, with Attorney M. Hugh Thompson defending McCaskill.

Ivan was struck with a night stick by James B. Samuels, local police lieutenant, when McCaskill refused to move from a position of the sidelines on O'Kelly Field near the end of the game. When McCaskill, who was talking, did not move promptly from the sidelines, Samuels gave him a hard blow on the head with his night stick. McCaskill was struck again across the neck by Samuels when he asked the officer not to strike him again with the stick. McCaskill then went to the ground in pain. The force of

Summer Science And Math Institute Gets $60,500 Grant From NSF

The National Science Foundation has awarded $60,500 to North Carolina College for a "Summer Institute for High School Teachers of Science and Mathematics." Dr. William H. Robinson, professor of physics, will direct the six weeks institute which begins around June 8. This is NCC's third NSF grant.

In 1956 the College was awarded $57,500 followed by a $53,000 grant in 1957.

Dr. Robinson and NCC President Alfonso Elder announced that the grants are "to provide opportunities for the science teacher to attend courses in the subject matter of science and mathematics especially designed for him and conducted by faculty members noted for competence in their fields and for skill in presentation."

More than 50 teachers are expected to receive the grants which carry stipends of $75 weekly to those qualifying in biology, chemistry and mathematics. Travel allowances, $15 for each dependent in addition to fees and tuition are included in the total grants.

Persons interested in the grant should apply directly to Dr. Robinson.

NCC residence teachers in mathematics and science are assisted in the program by outstanding scientific authorities from some of the nation's leading universities.
